For MY CHILDREN
and
MY GRANDCHILDREN

FOREWORD

In 1927 I joined the Daughters of the American Revolution through the services of Richard Hakes. We owned a Hakes genealogy and that was not a difficult task.

It seemed a good idea then to find out about some more of my ancestors; at that time I did not even know the name of my great-grandfather.

During the next twenty years I visited libraries and cemeteries, consulted Bible and census records and wrote hundreds of letters. The work progressed slowly; in one case seventeen years elapsed between the letter and its final answer. In the search there has come to light a dozen ancestors who came to these shores aboard the Mayflower and thirteen (also three for the Lamont line) who helped the American cause during the Revolution. Having worked for twenty years on these genealogies it seemed worthwhile to publish the results and thereby preserve for future generations records that otherwise might be lost.

ELDREDGE

But strew his ashes to the wind
Whose sword or voice has served mankind,
And is he dead, whose glorious mind
Lifts him on high?
To live in hearts we leave behind,
Is not to die.

Excerpts from Eldredge Genealogy edited by Zoeth Skinner Eldredge 1896

The name Eldredge or Eldred, as it was originally written, is Saxon. Eldred was the name of several kings of the Saxons in the 8th and 9th centuries. Eldred was king of Chester, A. D. 951. An Eldred was Saxon Archbishop of York (and Canterbury) in 1066 and according to the historian Thiery cursed William the Conqueror. The Eldreds were holders of land in Yorkshire and many other counties at the time of the Doomsday Survey (A. D. 1085) and prior thereto in the reign of Edward the Confessor. John Eldred of Great Saxham in Suffolk descended from an ancient family claiming Saxon origin. (Tradition says that he purchased the great Saxham estates because of his belief that his ancestors, in remote ages, as Saxon kings had held the Saxhams as their great Saxon home). He was born in 1552 and died in 1632. He was a great traveler and his ships and merchandise went to all parts of the world. He was one of the founders of Virginia, and from 1609 to 1624 was a member of His Majesty's Council for the Virginia Co. of London. He was known as John Eldred the Navigator. He left four sons and two daughters. Thomas Lee of Coton, in Shropshire (the seat of Launcelot Lee, Esq.), married Dorothy, granddaughter of John Eldred.

The Pilgrims who came in the Mayflower in 1620 had intended to plant their colony near the mouth of the Hudson River, but were driven by contrary winds northward to Cape Cod. As John Eldred of Great Saxham was at that time, and for 15 years, a director of the Virginia Co. of London, it is possible that the Eldreds who appeared in New England between 1635 and 1645, namely William, Robert, Samuel, John and Nathaniel were in some way connected with his family.

The three brothers, William, Robert and Samuel were men of standing and substance; William married Anne, daughter of Wm. and Tamesin Lumpkin of Yarmouth. William Lumpkin came over in 1637; he was a deputy to the Colony Court and held many of the local offices. As the Yarmouth records were destroyed by fire in 1674 the account of William Eldred and his children is brief. Anne, his wife, was buried Nov. 1, 1676.

Wm. Eldred of Yarmouth, Robert of Yarmouth and Monomy, and Samuel of Cambridge, Mass. and Stonington, Conn., were brothers.

Elisha Eldred (William) was born 1653 in Mass. and died in Eastham (Wellfleet) Oct. 14, 1739. He is buried in the old graveyard at the head of Duck Creek, where a stone marks the spot. His name on the gravestone is spelled Eldredg. William Lumpkin, the father-in-law of William Eldred, in his will dated July 23, 1668, names wife Tamesin, dau. Tamesin, wife of John Sunderling, and grandchildren, Wm. Gray, Elisha Eldred and Bethia Eldred. In 1693 Elisha Eldredg bought a tract of land in Harwich of Joseph Creek, an Indian. He afterwards sold to Isaac Atkins and removed to that part of Eastham which subsequently became the town of Wellfleet. Name of wife not known. His son Elisha Eldredge Jr. was active in church work and was opposed to the preaching of Mr. Oaks.

ELDREDGE

Elisha Eldredge, Jr.,[3] (Elisha[2], William[1]) was born about 1690 and died Nov. 9, 1754 at Mansfield, Conn. He married Dorcas Mulford of Truro; she was born at Eastham Mch. 6, 1692/3 and died in Mansfield, Conn., about 1755. Her mother was Mary, dau. of Nathaniel Basset and granddaughter of Wm. Bassett, who came on Ship "Fortunr" in 1621. Elisha was probably married in Truro and his oldest son Mulford was born there, but by 1715 he was again living in Eastham and about 1741 he removed to Mansfield, Conn. Owing to church troubles at Billingsgate (Eastham) he had himself and children baptized in Truro, and in 1727, where he is on the church records as Elisha Eldredge, Jr., of Eastham. He and his wife Dorcas were admitted to the church at South Mansfield by letter June 21, 1741. In his will dated Dec. 12, 1751, and proved Nov. 23, 1754, he provides for four sons and five daughters and signs his name Elisha Eldredge. This spelling of the name has been adhered to by most of his descendants. His wife Dorcas, who is named in the will, was dead in 1756 when the estate was distributed.

Records in Mansfield and Willington are very defective and the dates of the birth of all his children cannot be given exactly. The names are given by one of the family as they were told her by her grandmother.

Zoeth's first wife, Elizabeth, died Jan. 8, 1779. Zoeth was a farmer and a soldier of the Revolution. The minute men who sprang to arms at the sound of the Lexington Alarm were regularly organized and equipped militia enrolled by authority of the Assembly or Provincial Congress and were subject to the call of the Committee of Safety. Citizens of every calling appeared in the ranks of these alarm companies. To be a private in them was proclaimed to be an honor; to be chosen to office in them a mark of the highest distinction.

Frothingham's Siege of Boston

In company with the other Conn. towns, Willington responded quickly to the call Apr. 19, 1775 and almost before the British troops had accomplished their retreat from Lexington, a gallant little band of farmer soldiers were on the road to Boston. The Co. was under the command of Major Elijah Fenton and Zoeth Eldredge marched a private in the ranks. The service of the minute men was brief and upon their dismissal, Zoeth Eldredge enlisted in the 2nd Conn. Regiment Col. Joseph Spencer, serving as a private in the 5th Co. under Capt. Solomon Welles from about May 1st until the Regiment was dismissed in latter part of Dec. 1775. This Regiment was at Roxbury and served during the siege of Boston. Detachments of officers and men engaged at the battle of Bunker Hill and in Arnold's Quebec expedition Sept. - Dec. 1775. He also saw three months service under Washington in New York City. Then he was taken sick with camp fever and was sent with several of his comrades to Hospital at Stamford, Conn. just before the retreat from the city began. His Co. Com. was Joseph Parsons. His son Zoeth married Lois Dunton Oct. 8, 1804; died at Syracuse 1844. Zoeth's family written up in the New Eng. Historical Gen. Mag. for January 1897.

Autobiography of Jesse Eldredge[6], Jesse[5-4], Elisha[3-2], Wm.[1].

1768 Jesse Eldredge 1852

I was born at Willington, then county of Hartford, Ct., Jan. 11, 1768, and for a number of years resided with my parents in a log house, no road passed by it, and no other house within half a mile; the school house distant one mile and a quarter. The snow deep and drifted and my brother next to me for age almost five years younger than me, I attended school but little before I was 13 years old. Books were at that time scarce, my mother procured a few small books and taught me to read. At the age of 4 years I could read in the Bible; about this time the venerable Samuel Nott D. D., Samuel Greely and Samuel Thompson (a cousin of mine but much older) were studying with Rev. Daniel Welch, preparatory to a collegiate education. They frequently visited my father, took much notice of me, and commended me for the proficiency I had made and occasionally gave me instruction. Our school house having been burned, the school was taught in different private homes, usually six or eight weeks in winter. I generally attended when the going was such that I could and I went right ahead of the other scholars, in reading and spelling; in arithmetic none were before me, in writing some excelled. At the age of 18, I taught school in Tolland. At the close of it a grammar school opened which I attended for nine months. David Searle, a man of liberal education, was preceptor. Here I went before all the other scholars except Habel Fenton, who had attended such a school sometime previously. We were pretty equally matched; he afterward received a liberal education which I had calculated to do, but my father being instantly killed by a fall in his barn, and my portion of the property being deemed insufficient for the expense, it was given up. A little before I was 22, I married Polly Bicknell, and worked on the farm in summer and taught school in the winter. Besides teaching at home, I taught in Ashford, Mansfield, Tolland, Enfield and Vernon. In the year 1805 I visited my brother Enoch and other relatives at DeRuyter, then county of Chenango, N. Y., and purchased a lot of land. In Feb. 1806, in company with Zoeth Eldredge, Jr., (a cousin of mine) and Jesse my second son went there. Zoeth stayed but a short time, and it being difficult to obtain board I let Jesse go to live with Capt. Willard Abbott of Cazenovia, where he stayed a number of years. I tended a sugar bush on shares and made sugar and molasses more than sufficient for my family's use. I assisted Mr. Abraham B. Fairchild to clear off and fence about three acres of land, which had been chopped and burnt over, for which I had the use of it that season, which I planted and had a good crop of corn. I put up a log house, and chopped the timbers on one acre, which I cleared off and sowed with wheat, after bringing on my family. In the latter part of August 1806, I went after my family and returned the first of October. At this time there was great attention to religion; we were visited by Rev. Seth Williston and Rev. Thomas Williams, Missionaries. A Congregational church was formed the following January with which I united the March following. I continued to teach school in winter and taught in Cazenovia, Cincinnatus, DeRuyter, German, Lincklaen, Nelson and Paris. Generally I boarded around in the district, by this means forming an extensive acquaintance, among whom I believe I have many friends. In the year 1813 March my wife died and in the October following I married Nabey Williams of Eaton, (a native of Westfield, Mass.) who still lives with me. I began to write poetry when young; some pieces of my composing have been published. When I was building a frame house, I carried my books and papers to my barn, and when I brought them again to my house, I found them much mutilated and some which I valued most, destroyed. I have lent some which were never returned and have given some away. I thought it would be a gratification to some of my numerous friends to peruse the pieces which I have selected for publication, and it is my sincere desire that they may be beneficial to many. One more remark and I cease; on the 26th of April 1847 I inadvertantly fell and fractured my hip, from which casualty I am still lame.

Jesse Eldredge was my grandfather and died June 1st, 1852, aged 84 years, 4 months, 20 days. Nabey Williams, his second wife, died Jan. 14, 1858, aged 85 years.

Jesse Eldredge's father was Jesse Eldredge, Jr., of Willington, Conn.; he was a farmer and a soldier of the Revolution. He married Mary Pierce of Mansfield, March 19, 1767, and died May 9, 1788. Jesse Eldredge of this sketch was his eldest child. His grandfather, Jesse Eldredge, married Abigail Smith; she died March 11, 1793; he died in Willington, Dec. 17, 1794. They came to Willington from Cape Cod about 1740.

Letter written by Jesse Eldredge to brother Elijah at Willington, Ct.:

Pitcher, July 9th, 1847.

Dear brother and sister,

It is a long time since I have received a letter from you and very little intelligence. Otis Freeman's wife informed us of the marriage of some of your children, and Mrs. Hanks said that she saw you last fall—and a year ago last fall I saw and conversed with Daniel S. Maine who said he saw and conversed with you not long before . . . But we have been expecting a visit from you for several years past . . . I greatly hoped you would have come last fall as I had I believe the best garden I ever saw . . . I had various kinds of melons some of them very large . . . I now write to request you to come this season . . . but if you decline I wish you to write soon at any rate I wish to know what I may depend upon.

I will now make a statement of our affairs. By the favor of our over ruling Providence we are in the enjoyment of comfortable health . . . although the 26th of last April I was descending the cellar stairs with a pail partly filled without a light . . . supposing I had reached the lowest stair but one I stepped over two and broke my hip. I was confined a good while — in that position I wrote the following lines:

A dirful calamity! sudden and sad!
I instantly fell, and I hurt me so bad
That little of comfort was any how had.
Now stretched on my bed and thus suffering pain
I mean not to murmur, repine or complain;
But patiently suffer confinement — distress
And all other evils, or greater or less.
With calmness of purpose I still persevere,
And think that the prospect appears pretty clear,
I firmly rely on Omniscience alone
To whom all the future is perfectly known.
He'll guide and support me. What foe can I fear?
While infinite mercy to me is so near.

I can walk a number of rods by the aid of a chair; I have pretty good bodily health though rather weak. Nabey is in the enjoyment of comfortable health. Ephriam P. has one son and two daughters—Frederick F. married Sabrina Thompson; they have a son almost three years old—all well.

Jesse has five sons and two daughters. Last September they emigrated to Wisconsin. After reach there he wrote that he should stay at the village of Racine through the winter and when he located he would write. I have not yet received a letter. I was verbally informed that Luna had been sick of a fever but was recovering.

Elam has two sons and three daughters living—his oldest daughter Calancy B. died of consumption and was buried last New Years day. Elam Edson was married to Samantha Weeks last fall. Elam has been very solicitous that I write you for a long time and wishes to have it ascertained whether you will come or not. All well. Eunice has no child living.

Jablish Henry Breed, Lois' oldest son married John H. Lawton's oldest daughter Olive and carries on the place . . . they have two daughters. All in health. We had a letter from J. Breed in May. Eunice Lois oldest daughter married Wm. Shakespeare—she has a daughter and son. Maria the second is at Michigan; she has one child in feeble health—her husband's name not recollected. A. Jackson the youngest son in the Customs house at Cleveland, wages $35 a month. Clymene the youngest daughter at home. Chloe has one daughter, Cordelia. Polly died three years ago and left one daughter and two sons, her husband Josiah W. Clark is at Cortlandville and Orson Lois' second son with him. Eli E. lives with me and he has five daughters, the two youngest twins. Enoch's health has greatly inmproved—I shall now write about his children. David P. has two daughters and eight sons—his oldest daughter married and has a son. Samuel S. has five sons. Josephus one daughter. Adin three daughters and one son. Elijah M. had two wives; by the second he left a son. Joanna married Martin Morehouse; she has I believe three children. Eunice has had two husbands—I suppose both are living—the first left her—she left the second—she had two sons by the first—the youngest dead. One daughter by the second. Emeline marrid well—died of consumption about a year after. Now if you refuse to visit us furnish me with as good a genealogical letter as this, intersperse with such commentaries as you may deem pertinent.

The three last years we had but little fruit, by reason of frost; but this year there is a prospect of abundance. The last winter was pretty severe, we had more wind and rain than usual—much snow which became deep towards spring and staid late—spring unusually cold but no severe frosts—the summer has thus far been cool—crops rather late but appear promising. If my situation and circumstances would permit I should be pleased again to visit the land of my nativity and see my former friends—but there is little probability that I shall do it. I wish you to remember me to Aunt Bethiah and Ariel; Mr. Pearl Austin and wife, Mrs. Crocker and family; Horace, Rial and Ralph Holt, Asa Taylor, Judge Rider and Rufus, John Turner; Amos Preston, Hosea Vinton, David and Daniel Grazier, Amasa Holt and Oliver. I shall particularize no further, but I would give my best regards to all who may enquire or think of me. I am very anxious to know whether Jerome Holt is living; if you do not know, enquire of Amasa.

I shall fill up my sheet with lines composed for last Thanksgiving Day.

Nine States in the union have fixed on a day
To meet in their temples to praise and to pray
Twenty six of November is thus set apart—
May grateful sensations pervade every heart.
Our lives and our liberties here are secure
While despotic measures too many endure.
The blessing of health has by most been enjoyed
While Cholera—thousands of others destroyed.
A plentiful harvest awarded the toil
Of those who by labor have nurtured the soil
While some other places have suffered by dearth
And otherwise failed of the fruits of the earth.

Our recent election has favored the cause
Of those who believed in good order and laws.
Sam Wright must resign up the right of the State
To Young, his competitor—change very great.
Though war has assailed us and blood has been spilt
And we are depressed with a vast load of guilt,
We pray that these evils may speedily cease
And war with its horrors be transformed to peace
Where vices and errors now greatly abound
May pity, truth and religion be found.
In those States where slavery has advocates now
May reason and honesty cause them to bow
The All wise dispenser of blessings bestow
His favors upon us that we may all know
On Him we're dependent for all we enjoy
His praises forever should be our employ.

Wm. Case Eldredge b. Tolland Co. Ct. 1765. The record of his family in a book kept by himself gives no positive record of his own birth or death. His father, Ebenezer Eldredge, died in 1773, when he (Wm. Case) was but a child, and the family seem to have been separated. From 1773 to 1775 was but a little time. One after another his father's four brothers became soldiers of the Revolution. The boy doubtless was influenced by the military enthusiasm about him and he also became attached to the army. Too young to be a soldier, he was the servant of Colonel Elisha Sheldon who commanded a regiment of Light Dragoons in the Continental Army. It was his duty to wait upon Col. Sheldon in any service he might require and whenever that officer needed his horse the young lad brought it to him, saddled and ready to mount, and then saddled his own horse, mounted and followed. There were often times of great haste, and quick fingers and steady nerves were needed. It is related that at one time the Dragoons were surprised by the enemy; the youth brought the Colonel his horse, then turned and made his own ready and mounted. The saddle was too loosely buckled and turned beneath him, but he kept his place on the back of the horse and rode for about a mile with a British officer riding by his side, who was trying to unseat or kill him. He received a saber cut the length of one cheek, but he defeated his antagonist and rode forward alone. May 11, 1781 at the age of sixteen he enlisted in the Dragoons as a soldier and served until the close of the war. Numerous scars gave proof of his service, among them were the scar on his cheek, a long scar on one arm, and two silver pieces set in his skull. He was with Washington at Valley Forge, and it is told that when their boots wore out they tied old cloths on their feet and walked with great suffering. After the close of the war he returned to Conn. Nov. 30, 1786 he married Zerviah Barker; she was the dau. of Joseph and Susanna Barker and was born Jan. 15, 1767; three children, Ebenezer, Wm. and Erastus were born in Willington, Conn., the town in which they were married. Later they removed to Salem, N. Y.; there their younger children were born, and in that vicinity their children were married. Not very long after the Phelps & Gorham Purchase was opened for settlers, the elder children began moving westward. Ebenezer, Wm. and Laura with their families found homes in Webster, N. Y. Others came later and also the father and mother.

When Wm. Case Eldredge enlisted at the age of 16, the records describe him as being 5 ft. 4½ in. in height, with dark complexion, eyes and hair. He was very slender; but in later years he was a large man and weighed about 300 lbs. His wife was also large, and it is said that when riding a wagon they could not sit side by side on the same seat.

Zerviah Eldredge died June 21, 1835 at the home of her daughter, Laura Rice, and was buried near West Webster, N. Y. Later William Case Eldredge died (1842) and was buried at the same place.

Children of Number (153)

Erastus Eldredge[7], Wm. Case[6], Ebenezer[5], Jesse[4], Elisha[3-2], Wm.[1].

Erastus Eldredge, b. July 15, 1791 at Willington, Ct.; died Feb. 27, 1864 at Penfield, N. Y.; in War of 1812; in 1814 he visited the new lands opened for settlement by the Phelps and Gorham Purchase in Western N. Y. From there he went to Tioga Co., Penn., where he saw Miss Polly Husted, whom he married early in the following year. He seems to have taken his bride to Salem and to have made it his home for a few years. There three of his elder children were born; Laura, Ezra and William. His tastes led him to choose to be a millwright in addition to work of a farmer and he again journeyed to Western N. Y. He purchased land at Penfield, because of its superior mill privileges, there being a good demand for sawed lumber for building purposes. In 1818 Laura died. In 1820 he brought his wife and two little sons to a new home in Penfield; they traveled across the state in an ox cart; he had once made the journey riding one horse and leading another. A house built of logs and shaded by a great Balm-of-Gilead tree was their new home; he had 13 children; nearly all lived to mature years.

Erastus married Polly Husted at Covington, Pa., Jan. 3, 1815. Polly was born June 21, 1789; died Dec. 17, 1821, Penfield.

Freeman

Page 12 - 13 Freeman Genealogy by Frederick Freeman 1875.

Edmund Freeman admitted freeman at Plymouth, Jan. 2, 1837; and, after being a short time in Duxbury, obtained leave of the Colonial Gov't. to commence the establishment of the first English town on the Cape. The grant is indicated by the record: "Plymouth, April 3, 1637 — it was agreed by the court that these ten men of Saugus — 1st one was Edmund Freeman—have liberty to view a place to sit down, and have sufficient lands for three score families upon the conditions propounded to them." (One of the conditions was the extinguishment of the Indian title).

The enterprise thus originated and projected, a large number of persons from Duxbury, Plymouth, and Lynn, but chiefly from the latter place, — the ancient Saugus, — removed to the location selected; and, about 2 years later, the first successful settlement within what came to be known as Barnstable County was legally incorporated as the town of Sandwich. Mr. Freeman's status may be inferred from the fact, that of the 58 who became entitled to share in the division of lands, his portion was much the largest. His position in the Colony is evidenced by successive elections as assistant to the Governor in direction of public affairs. He was early appointed the head of a court of three, "to hear and determine controversies and causes" within the several contiguous townships. When, after a residence of many years in the Colony, select courts were established by Gov't. in each county, he was one of the selectees. Indeed, we find him always prominent, active and influential.

Gov. Hutchinson's History makes prominent mention of Mr. Freeman and 15 others, as the "Founders of the Colony of New Plymouth, the settlement of which Colony occasioned the settlement of Mass. Bay, which was the source of all the other Colonies of New England."

Edmund Freeman, the emigrant, who came 1635 did not bring his first wife, Bennett Hodsell, but it was his 2nd wife, Elizabeth . . . . Bennet Hodsell, fourth dau. of John Hodsell of Sussex Co., Gentlemen, and his wife Faith (probably Gratwicke), was born 1598 and buried at Pulborough, April 12, 1630. She was sister and co-heir of John Hodsoll of Shermanbury, Co. Sussex, gentleman; her death taken from Register of the parish church, Pulborough, Co. Sussex, England.

Edmund Freeman, father of the emigrant, was born about 1570; buried June 6, 1623 at Pulborough (Parish Register), yeoman; will dated May 30, 1623; married Alice Coles, sister of George Coles of Amberly, Co. Sussex, buried Feb. 14, 1651/2 at Reigate, Co. Sussex; will dated Nov. 13, 1650, proved Mch. 5, 1651/2 by John Beauchamp, one of the executors.

The parish Registers of Pulborough, Billinghorst and Cowfold and a record of a lawsuit in which the emigrant sued in behalf of his children, all named, for property inherited from their deceased mother's family, also furnished the above data.

The eldest son of Edmund Freeman and Alice Coles, Edmund Freeman of Pulborough and Billinghurst, Co. Sussex, later of Saugus and Sandwich, in Plymouth, was bapt. July 25, 1596 at Pulborough (Parish Register), died

1682 at Sandwich, will probated Nov. 2, 1682 (Plymouth Col. Rec. Vol. IV of wills, Part 2, page 5.)

Married 1st June 16, 1617 at Cowfold, Co. Sussex, Bennett Hodsoll (Parish Register of Cowfold, Co. Sussex, page 192). The marriage of Edmund, the emigrant, to Elizabeth, whoever she was, is nowhere recorded, nor is her surname proven; now you notice he did not come to America until 1635; so he must have married his 2nd wife Elizabeth — between 1630 - 1635. He had 4 children whose birth dates we know, but the last child Mary, who married Edward Perry about 1653, may have belonged to 2nd wife. The last birth has not been proven. The author of Freeman Genealogy 1875 did not know about 1st wife, Bennett Hodsoll, as he was trying to ascertain why the name Bennett was introduced as a first name by dau. Elizabeth who married John Ellis. One writer said of the 2nd marriage, "It probably took place either on the ship in passage or soon after he reached America; nor are there any children recorded."

There are two families of Freeman's; Edmund of Sandwich and Samuel of Watertown. Edmund was influential in incorporating the town of Sandwich. He was always prominent, active and influential; during the Quaker troubles, his councils were for moderation, and, so far from consenting to severities, he stoutly remonstrated against all illiberal enactments and their enforcement. There can be found no blemish in his protracted and eventful life; no dark spot in its whole history. 1st wife Bennett Hodsoll who died Apr. 12, 1630; 2nd wife Elizabeth — (Beauchamps?, Gurnew?, Perry?).

John Freeman, born in England 1627; died Eastham Oct. 28, 1719; married Mercy Prence (dau. of Gov. Prence and Patience (Brewster) and granddau. of Wm. Brewster) Feb. 14, 1650; did service in the Indian Wars; was a large land owner; held many important public offices; in 1692 was app't to the Bench of Common Pleas; was a resident of Sandwich and moved to Eastham about the time of his marriage, where he is mentioned as "among the earliest settlers with Gov. Prence." Through a long course of years he was deacon of the Eastham Church and was regarded as one of the fathers of Eastham.

Mercy (Prence) Freeman born 1631; died Sept. 28, 1711 ae 80. John Freeman died Oct. 28, 1719, ae 92.

Major John Freeman was a more distinguished man than his father. (See pp 28 & 29, Freeman Genealogy). He was frequently mentioned in public records, first as Lieut, subsequently as Capt. and later as Major. He was Deputy from 1654 for 8 years; Selectman from 1663 for ten years; Asst. in the Gov't. from 1666 several years, and later in life, Dec. 7, 1692 was appointed to the Bench of the Court of Common Pleas.

John Freeman lived to a venerable old age, and in the ancient graveyard in Eastham are monuments wrought in the mother country to his wife's memory and to his own. His wife died first, and on her curiously wrought gravestone is depicted a heart within which her epitaph is engraved in small capital letters.

Edmund Freeman[2], Edmund[2-1].

Edmund Freeman born Oct. 5, 1655; died May 18, 1720 ae 65 yr. (see p. 33, Freeman Gen.). Edmund Freeman was a resident of Sandwich most of his life, where all his children were born and settled; but late in life he resided, as the date of his will shows, in Yarmouth, since known as Dennis and now as N. Dennis; did not stay there long. In 1702 he in company with Mr. John Nye of Sandwich viewed and purchased 1000 acres of land in Windham, Conn., lying in that part of the township since known as Mansfield. He married Sarah Skeffe (pp. 31, 32).

Nathaniel Freeman, born Mch. 20, 1669; died Jan. 4, 1760 ae 91 yrs.; resided in that part of the present Orleans, formerly the Indian Skaket; he was one of his Majesty's Justices and Justice of the Court of Common Pleas. He was also town clerk and selectman of Eastham, and "long prominent in public affairs." His father was Major John Freeman and his mother was Mercy Prence, dau. of Gov. Prence and grand dau. of Elder Wm. Brewster. He married Mary Howland about 1690; she was born Feb. 23, 1665; died Jan. 29, 1742/3 aged 76.

It has been a question who was his wife; we are confident that she was Mary Howland. Zoeth Howland had a dau. Mary b. Feb. 23, 1665; and there has existed a tradition among the Howlands that "This dau. Mary, married a distinguished man on the Cape, named Freeman." The circumstances that Mr. Freeman's dau. Abigail, who married Smith, named a son Zoeth helps confirm the conviction that Mrs. Freeman was a Howland.

Edmund Freeman[4], Edmund[3-2-1]. (See Freeman Gen. p. 46).

Mr. Edmund Freeman removed with his large family to the State of Conn. and settled in Mansfield, where his wife Kezia died April 20, 1764 ae 77, she having been born in 1688. Edmund Freeman was born Aug. 30, 1683 and died June 1, 1766 ae 83 yrs. Mr. Freeman resided in the South Parish of Mansfield, which place we visited in 1834, finding the chimney only of the old mansion, indicating the location of the house where our grandparents died.

The surname Warren is derived from Gareme or Garenne, a small river in the old county of Calilas or Caux in Normandy, which gave its name to the neighboring commune and is only a few miles from Dieppe. There is at present a village called Garenne in the same district, and it is here that the origin of the family has been fixed by historians. On the west side of the river Garenne was the ancient baroniel seat of the de Warrennes, and some of the ruins were standing in 1832. The surname has assumed different forms from time to time—Gareyn, Warreyn, Waryn, Waring, Warynge, Waryng, and Warren. The Conn. branch spelled the name Waring until recent generations.

The ancestor of perhaps all the English, Scotch and Irish families of Warren was William deWarrenne, a nobleman, who came to England with William the Conqueror, and was related to him both by marriage and descent. An ancient genealogy of the family traces the lineage of this William de Warrenne back to the year 900 A. D., the year in which his Scandinavian forbears are said to have settled in Normandy. The Warrens of America have won distinction both as civilians and soldiers.

(I) The family of Warren is traced to a Norman baron of Danish extraction who had son Herfastus, whose daughter married Walter de St. Martin.

(II) Their son, William de Warrenne, Earl of Warren in Normandy, married daughter of Ralph de Tosta. Also had daughter, Gundred, who married Richard, Duke of Normandy.

(III) Their son, Richard, Duke of Normandy, was father of William the Conqueror, King of England, who married Maud, daughter of Baldwin, Earl of Flanders. They had daughter, Gundred, who married William de Warren, the first Earl of Warren and Surrey. He accompanied William the Conqueror, and was a powerful auxiliary in the battle of Hastings, 1066. William de Warren received the title of Earl before coming to England. He is mentioned in Doomsday Book as possessing land in almost every county in England, comprising one hundred and thirty-nine lordships, one book said three hundred lordships.

Earl William Warren selected his residence in the village of Lewes, county of Surrey. He erected there his beautiful castle, of which the ruins are still to be seen on an eminence surrounding the town. Although the principal parts are demolished, its gates are still standing, showing its massive construction. The Earl died June 24, 1088. His wife Gundrada, dau. of William, died May 27, 1085.

The history of the Warren family has been written and is exceeded in interested antiquity by none in England.

From this point, Belle Eldredge LaMont, mentioned below, traces her ancestry in a direct line for seventeen generations to Richard Warren the "Mayflower" Pilgrim, from whom she is descended in the eleventh generation, thus making twenty-nine generations in unbroken line from William de Warren, previously referred to, who married Gundred, the youngest daughter of William the Conqueror.

Richard Warren, the American progenitor, born in England, came to New England from Greenwich, Eng., in the historic Mayflower company which founded Plymouth, Mass. in 1620, and was one of the nineteen signers of the famous compact who survived the first winter. The register at the end of Bradford's folio manuscript gives him the honorable prefix of Mr. He was mentioned by a contemporary as "grave Richard Warren, a man of integrity, justice and uprightness, of piety and serious religion"; and also "as a useful instrument during the short time he lived, bearing a deep share in the difficulties and troubles of the plantation." He received land grants in common with his associates and one of these grants was at Warren's Cove. He was one of the influential members of the company and as such was selected with nine others to cruise along the coast from Cape Cod Harbor, in a shallop, for the purpose of deciding on a place of settlement. His death occurred at Plymouth in 1628. His wife Elizabeth, whom he married in England, followed him to America in the "Ann" or "Anne" in 1623, bringing with her their five daughters. She occupied an important social position in the colony; is usually mentioned in the records as Mistress Elizabeth Warren, a designation by no means common, and is one of the rare instances in an early colony of continued widowhood. Upon the marriage of her daughters she conveyed to their respective husbands certain lands, variously located at Eel River and Wellingsly. In the division of cattle in 1627, shares were given to Richard, his wife Elizabeth and seven children. Elizabeth died at Plymouth, Oct. 2, 1673, aged about 90 years.

The children of Richard and Elizabeth (Jonatt ?) Warren were:

1 Mary, m. Robert Bartlett.
2 Ann, m. Thomas Little.
3 Sarah, m. John Cooke, Jr.
4 Elizabeth, m. Richard Church and was the mother of the famous Benjamin Church, the conqueror of King Philip.
5 Abigail, m. Anthony Snow in 1639.
6 Nathaniel, b. in Plymouth 1624; d. 1667; m. Sarah Walker, Nov. 1645.
7 Joseph, b. in Plymouth.

Abigail Warren died 1667; Anthony Snow her husband (- 1692). Their gravestones are in the old burying ground in Sandwich (Boston Transcript Nov. 27, 1935).

Lydia Snow (dau. of Anthony and Abigail (Warren) Snow), b. 1640; d. 1715; married Stephen Skiffe (born April 14, 1641; died 1710).

BASSET

Wm. Basset[1] came in ship "Fortune" 1621. He settled first in Plymouth, then in Duxbury, and finally in Barnstable, of which town he was an original proprietor. He died there 1667. He was comparatively wealthy, being a land owner, only four in Plymouth paying a larger tax in 1633. He was on the earliest list of freemen made in 1633; was a volunteer in a company raised 1637 to assist the Mass. and Conn. settlers in the Pequot War; a member of the committee of the town of Duxbury to lay out bounds and decide on the fitness of persons applying to become residents; and was a representative to the Old Colony Courts for 6 yrs. His son Nathaniel settled first in Marshfield but removed to Yarmouth where he was living in 1664. His estate was appraised at 228 lb/ 11s.

D. A. R. Magazine, June 1926, p. 364.

Wm. Basset came in ship Fortune 1621; mar. Elizabeth Tilden.
Boston Transcripe July 3, 1906.

Mary Basset, who married Thomas Mulford Oct. 28, 1690, was a dau. of Nathaniel Basset of Yarmouth; Wm. Basset, Thomas Mulford and Mary settled in Truro.

At Leydon in Mch. 1611 one Wm. Basset, a widower who had married Cecil Lecht (or Light), was betrothed to Mary Butler, "a maid from Eng." Mary Butler died before the marriage could take place, and in August following Wm. Basset married Margaret Oldham. So far as we learn nothing more is seen on the Leyden record.

In Nov. 1621, among the passengers in the Fortune, came Wm. Basset, apparently alone. In 1623 in the Ann came Thomas Tilden with, it is said, two daughters. The next year we find Wm. Basset with a wife Elizabeth and a new-born son. This Elizabeth was mother of all the children:

1 Wm. Basset, b. 1624; d. 1670; lived at Sandwich.
2 Elizabeth, b. 1626.
3 Nathaniel, 1627 - 1710; m. 1672 1st Mary (Dorcas), dau. of John Joyce; m. 2nd Hannah ———.
4 Joseph, b. 1629.
5 Sarah, b. 1630; m. Peregrine White (born on the Mayflower).
6 Ruth, b. 1632; m. 1665 John Sprague.
Basset - Preston Ancestors, by Belle Preston, Albany Library, Nov. 8, 1930.

Wm. Basset came in 1621; he was a volunteer in the war against the Pequots in 1637; a member of Capt. Miles Standish's Military Company 1643; he married probably in Eng. Elizabeth, who was the mother of his children. In 1627 there were 2 children, Wm. Jr. and Elizabeth. His wife died before 1650 and he married after 1651 Mary (Tilden) Lapham who was bapt. in Tenlerder, Eng. 1610, dau. of Nathaniel Tilden and widow of Thomas Lapham. Wm. Basset died at Bridgewater 1667 between Apr. 3, date of will, and May 12; his widow Mary signed receipt Sept. 1667. All the children were born in Plymouth. The maiden name of Elizabeth Basset is in doubt.

See Munsey - Hopkins Genealogy, Page 65, for a detailed account of the Basset family.

See also D. A. C. Magazine Nos. 1573 and 2839.

Wm. is a persistent name in the family, arising from desire to honor the emigrant Puritan ancestor, Wm. Basset, an Englishman who went with Puritans to Leyden, Holland and came from there in the Fortune 1621. He had 3 wives and seven children.

SMITH SMYTHE

After consulting a great many books, I have arrived at the following conclusions. Near the last of March 1633, Ralph Smith of Hingham, Co. Norfolk, Eng., in company with Edmund Hobart's family and other friends, embarked at Southampton, Eng. (altho no record has been found, they apparently came in the Mary and John, Robert Sayers master, which left Southampton on the last of March) and landed in Charlestown on Mass. Bay in the middle of May of that year. By June 1635 all the rest of Mr. Hobart's sons with their families had arrived and joined him in this country, and this little company removed to Barr Cove, a new place about 12 miles south of Boston.

At the General Court held in Mass., Sept. 2, 1635, the name of Barr Cove was changed to Hingham in memory of the town from which most of them came. With Edmund Hobart, Sr., came his wife, his son Joshua and his daughters, Rebecca and Sarah, as well as Ralph Smith, etc. All indications point to the fact that Ralph Smith was acquainted with the family of Hobart before they left England; he came to this country and went to Hingham or Barr Cove with them. As he seemed to associate with them and there were very few of marriageable age at the time in Hingham, it is reasonable to suppose that he married Rebecca Hobart as his first wife. In the manuscript Daniel Cushing, he shows that Ralph Smith was a single man when he came to this country.

HOPKINS

MAYFLOWER PASSENGER – STEPHEN HOPKINS

Stephen Hopkins is said by some to have been a London merchant. He was one of the 12 Mayflower passengers who had a title (Mr.) prefixed to his name. His party consisted of a second wife, Elizabeth, 2 children by a former wife (Constance and Giles, the latter a boy of thirteen), a daughter Damaris about 2 yrs old, and a babe Oceanus, so named because he was born upon the ocean in the Mayflower.

Of the Pilgrims who remained in 1634, Stephen Hopkins, Miles Standish and John Alden were the most prominent individuals. Stephen Hopkins was one of the first men among the Pilgrims, thus he was one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence in the New World. The

It has been called the nucleus around which everything else clustered, unquestionably the foundation of all the superstructures of government which have since been reared in these United States. HOWLAND

"Descendants of Howland Family" by Franklyn Howland.

Henry Howland married Mary Newland (sister of William who came to Sandwich from Lynn 1637).

D. A. C. 747 — Henry Howland was a surveyor, Duxbury, 1650 and 1668; served Grand Inquest. Henry Howland died Jan. 17, 1671; Mary Newland Howland died June 17, 1674.

Children of Henry and Mary Howland:

1 Joseph Howland, d. about June 15, 1692.
2 Zoeth Howland, b. Duxbury about 1635.
3 John Howland.
4 Samuel Howland.
5 Sarah Howland, m. Denis.
6 Elizabeth Howland, m. Allen.
7 Mary Howland, m. Cudworth.
8 Abigail Howland, m. Young.

It is not known when Henry Howland came to New England, but the first record of him is in the allotment of cattle to the different families in Plymouth in 1624, when he appears as the owner of the "black Cow"; he was freeman in 1633; served as surveyor of highways, juror, etc.; in 1657 he had joined the Society of Friends, and his name appears that year on the list of those who refused to serve on the "Great Enquest". Both he and his son Zoeth, who also became a member of the Friends Society, were frequently fined and imprisoned for entertaining Quakers, refusing to serve on the grand jury, etc. In 1652 Henry Howland was associated with others in a large tract of land in Dartmouth; in 1659 he, with twenty others, bought of the Indians, Asonet, now Freetown. He died in Duxbury, but he provided for his immediate posterity a more congenial home for them, in Freetown and Dartmouth. His son Samuel inherited the Freetown property while Zoeth settled about 1662 in Dartmouth.

Zoeth Howland[2] (Henry[1]) was born Duxbury about 1635; married Abigail —— Oct. 10, 1656. The Friends records at Newport, R. I. have the following entry in regard to his marriage: "Zoar Howland of Dartmouth in plimouth colony was married to Abigail his wife in the tenth month of the year one thousand six hundred fifty-six."

In same records, "Zoar Howland was killed by the Indians at Pocaset the twenty-first day of 1st mo. 1676."

In March 1658, he was brought before the court "for speaking opprobriously of the ministers of Gods Word". (He said he would not go to meeting to hear Iyes and that the devil could teach as good a sermon as the ministers etc.")

For this offense he was condemned to sit in the stocks for an hour. His wife also was fined 10 shilling for not attending the meeting of the Puritans. Zoeth Howland was killed by the Indians July 21, 1676. Just where he was killed and how he came to be there, is not known. It was at that section of R. I. called Pocaset, now Tiverton and Portsmouth; and the date of his death was in the middle of King Philip's War.

Children of Zoeth and Abigail Howland:

1 Nathaniel Howland, b. 8 mo. 5 da. 1657.
2 Benjamin Howland, b. 3 mo. 8 da. 1659; 1726 m. Judith Sampson.

The ancestors of Bathshuba Lothrop, wife of Samuel Smith and grandmother of Abigail Smith, wife of Jesse Eldredge.

First record found 1216. Walter de Lowethorpe elected sheriff of Yorkshire.

The Lowthorpe family had its English seat in Lowthorpe, Wapentake of Dickering, East Riding of Yorkshire.

John Lowthorpe, grandfather of John Lothrop, the American pioneer, appears in the 37th year of Henry VIII (1545) on a Yorkshire subsidy roll assessed twice as much as any other inhabitant of the parish.

In the early part of the 16th century, John Lowthorpe was living in Cherry Burton, Eng., a parish 4 miles from Lowthorpe in which his ancesters probably lived.

He was (tho belonging to a junior branch of the family) a gentleman of quite extended landed estate, both in Cherry Burton and in various parts of the country. Of his parentage and the names of his brothers and sisters we have no record, the early parish register having disappeared.

This John Lowthroppe left a son, Robert, and three daughters.

Robert Lowthroppe[2], John[1], succeeded to the estate of his father in Cherry Burton, and in his lifetime made considerable addition to it. He died in 1558; he married Ellen ——— (d. about 1572) and had two children, viz: Thomas and Margaret.

Thomas Lowthroppe[3], (Robert[2], John[1]) born at Cherry Burton, Eng.; married 1st Elizabeth, widow of ——— Clark; she was buried at Etton, Yorkshire, July 20, 1574. He married 2nd Mary ———; she was buried at Etton, Jan. 6, 1588. He married 3rd Jane ———. He removed to Etton about 1576 and died 1606. He had 22 children by his three wives.

Rev. John Lothrop[4], (Thomas[3], Robert[2], John[1]) was son of Thomas and Mary, his second wife. He was born in England, baptized Etton or Elton Dec. 20, 1584 and died in Barnstable, Mass. Nov. 8, 1653; educated in Queen's College, Cambridge; matriculated 1601, graduated B. A. 1605, and M. A. 1609; Curate in Egerton, 48 miles S. E. London, County of Kent, Lathe of Scray, Lower half hundred of Cobhill, of Cothill.

Married 1st Hannah Howes (or House); she died 1633.

Married 2nd Widow Ann Hammond (wife of Wm.) Feb. 17, 1636/7.

He was a minister, famous preacher of Barnstable.

Rev. John Lothrop left the Church of England and became one of the first Independent or Congregationalists; he was imprisoned for his liberal views but was released; after which he came to Plymouth, Mass. He founded the first Congregational Society in America at Barnstable.

His first wife died while he was imprisoned in London. Mrs. Ann Lothrop, who died in Barnstable Feb. 1, 1688, was supposed to be his widow.

Copied by Belle Eldredge LaMont, D. A. R. Nat. No. 231986.

LOTHROP

The Rev. John Lothrop was a graduate of Oxford, a clergyman of the established church and was settled in a parish in Egerton in the county of Kent. He gave up his charge however and renounced his orders because he could not constitutionally remain in the communion, owing to certain requirements which he regarded as both unreasonable and unscriptural.

Associated with the Rev. Henry Jacob, who at Leydon had embraced the views of Robinson, they established in London the First Independent Church in England; Mr. Jacob went to Virginia in 1624, and Mr. Lathrop became the pastor. In 1632 his flock was pounced upon by Archbishop Laud's pursuivant and 42 of them were thrown into prison, a few of them having escaped. The laymen were released on bail the next year, but it was nearly two years before the king, Charles the First, would be persuaded to release Lothrop. This he finally did on condition of his leaving the country. While in prison his wife died and his children were in great distress and came very near to starvation. He now embarked with about 30 of his people in the ship "Griffin" for Boston where he arrived Sept. 18, 1634. In 1628 some "men of Kent" came over and settled in Scituate. In 1634 Lothrop joined them as pastor, bringing with him his London flock. In consequence of poor soil and scanty room, the great body of the church, headed by Lothrop, removed to Cape Cod and founded Barnstable. He had 13 children. His son, Barnabas Lothrop, born in Scituate 1636, died Barnstable Dec. 21, 1715. The dau. of Barnabas, Bathshuba Lothrop, married Samuel Smith and their granddaughter Abigail Smith married Jesse Eldredge. Rev. John Lothrop became pioneer and founder of Lothrop. — Lothrop family in America.

CLARK RING

Thomas Clark first appeared in this country as a settler in July 1623, when he arrived in Plymouth in the "Anna" in a company of 42 adult passengers besides children. He brought with him considerable property especially cattle and had land allotted to him near Eel River, now Chiltonville.

There is a general tradition among the descendants of the Pilgrims and particularly among the descendants of Thomas Clark that he was the Thomas Clark who was one of the mates of the "Mayflower" and gave his name to Clark's Island of which he took possession Dec. 8, 1620. This tradition has never been verified.

In 1627 he was the only person of that name in Plymouth Colony. In documents of the period he is called carpenter, yeoman, merchant, or gentleman. In 1633 he took the freeman's oath and in 1637 headed a list of volunteers to act against the Pequot Indians. In 1640 he is included in a list of 58 "purchasers or old comers" in Plymouth. 1641-43-44-45-46-47 he was constable and surveyor of highways. In 1643 was in a list of men able to bear arms. 1651-1655 was representative to General Court and was at one time employed to audit the accounts of the colony.

Between 1655 and 1660 he removed to Boston where he lived in the vicinity of Scott's Lane; his son married Mehitable Scotto (dau. of Thos. Scotto) and he gave him a house in that region.

His son moved to Harwich and Thomas followed; the two were among the earliest proprietors of that town. In his latter days he lived with his dau., Susanna Lothrop, at Barnstable.

From 1654 to 1697 he was deacon of the Plymouth Church. He married 1st about 1634 Susan Ring (dau. of widow Mary Ring) of Plymouth. All his children were probably of this marriage. He married 2nd Mrs. Alice Nichols, dau. of Richard Hallett, in Boston 1664.

He died in Plymouth Mch. 24, 1697 and was buried on the summit of Burying Hill where his gravestone is still to be seen.

OTIS

"Otis Family in America" by William A. Otis.
New York Library, August 1931

Though lions and griffins may charge in your crest,
Don't think for a minute there's anything in it;
It's the brain in your head and the soul in your breast
That lift you above and away from the rest.
The fact that your grandsire rode off to war
And rampaged and tore
In a wild zeal for gore
Doesn't count any more,
The day of the "used to be family" is o'er.
In these times, even kings are but royal playthings—
Ermined jumping jacks, jerking on parliament strings.
Your family tree may be "way up in G",
But we're waiting to find out what your branch will be.
It's you, not your fathers, we're putting on trial;
It's your exploits, not lineage, we keep on file;
It's the record you've made that we count worth while.
A noble old oak may drop acorns all day,
But that doesn't say
They'll all sprout the oak way—

A lot will be spoiled by a touch of decay.
You may start in the peerage, or start in the steerage,
As the son of a duke, or a grimy coal-heaver,
It really means naught, if you're not a believer
In self, and are willing to work like a beaver;
The world wants real men who can help to improve it,
It's watching for brains that have power to move it.
Don't worry or pride yourself on your beginning,
Your birth cannot help you, nor hold you from winning.

RUSSELL

"Descendants of John Russell" by Gurdon Wadsworth Russell, M. D., LLD.

Edited by Edwin Stanley Welles 1910.

(Copied in Albany Library, Nov. 8, 1930)

John Russell was born in England 1597 and came to Cambridge, Mass. Oct. 3, 1635 in the ship "Defense", Captain Bostwick, with his two sons John and Philip. His wife had probably died before his emigration as there is no mention of her decease or anything. He was made a freeman March 3, 1636; surveyor of arms 1638; selectman 1642 and 1643; clerk of the writs 1645 and constable 1648. He remained at Cambridge until his son Rev. John Russell was chosen as pastor of church at Wethersfield 1648/9, when the father and the two sons removed to that place. He was made freeman in Conn. May 17, 1655.

Rev. Henry Smith was first pastor of church in Wethersfield; he died 1648; his second wife was Dorothy; after his death she married Mr. John Russell of Wethersfield, father of Rev. John Russell, Jr., successor of her first husband in the ministry of Wethersfield and afterwards 1st minister of Hadley, Mass. She was his 2nd wife and they occupied the homestead of the deceased clergyman.

It is not apparent that Mr. John Russell, Sr. was in Hadley in 1659 but he probably was in 1660 for he was made freeman March 26, 1661 and on May 22 of that year the General Court of Mass. appt. him to be "clarke of ye writts for Hadley", and no other is recorded until March 1681; he was a juryman at the County Corte in Northampton 1662 and 1665. John Russell was a glazier; he lived a quiet and enjoyable life in Wethersfield and Hadley.

On March 31, 1663 'Mr. Samuel Smith of Hadley, being present at this Corte, was chosen for Lieut. for the Trayn Band of that Town; and Mr. John Russell, Sr. being present was chosen for Clerk of that Band; they were all of them allowed and appt. by the Corte for those places and offices and Mr. Russell took his oath for the charge of this office." In 1670 he served as one of the selectmen of Hadley.

After graduating at Harvard College he remained at Wethersfield as pastor of a church in that place 'till 1659, when on acct. of trouble in his congregation, he removed to Hadley, Conn. as minister of the First Church of that place. The historian says: "It was at the house of this good man that the 'Regicides' remained secreted for a long time while in Hadley and occupied the cellar of the house he lived in, to which they descended thru a trap door in the floor, on the approach of any stranger.

TALCOTT

From "Talcott Pedigree" by S. V. Talcott 1876

John Talcott, the first of the name, resided in Colchester, Essex Co., Eng. He married 1st a Wells and had two children: John, who married Ann Skinner, and Robert. John Talcott died in Colchester about Nov. 1, 1606. His will was admitted to probate Nov. 12, 1606, in which the name is spelled Taylcott. One item: "I give and bequeth unto my grandchilde, John Talcott, the son of my son John Talcott, late of Braintree, the sum of fortie pounds, of good and lawful money, to be paid unto himself by myn executors at the age of one and twenty years (if he lyve so long) and the said fortie pounds in the meantime to be reserved for him in the hands of myn executors." He married 2nd Marie Pullen, who died Colchester June 19, 1605. By second wife he had 6 children.

John Talcott[2] (son of John and —— wells) was born probably in Colchester previous to 1558; married Ann Skinner (dau. of William Skinner) and had 6 children; oldest was John, rest were girls. He died Braintree about 14 miles from Colchester (where he resided) the early part of year 1604. He bequeathed his homestead to his wife and made bequests to son John and to daughters, Anne, Marie, Grace and Sara, giving each of his daughters 40 lbs. His widow soon after his death married Moyses Wall; all the children were minors at his death, but as the Braintree records previous to 1660 are deficient the dates of their baptisms cannot be ascertained.

John Talcott[3], accompanied by his wife (Dorothy Mott Talcott) and 2 children, Mary and John, came to America in the ship "Lion", sailed June 22, 1632, arriving Sept. 16, 1632; settled first at Newtown, now Cambridge, Mass. and from there went to Hartford, Conn. He is the ancestor of all the Talcotts in America; born Braintree, Essex Co., England.

John Talcott was admitted a freeman Nov. 6, 1632 by the General Court at Boston; was one of the Representatives in the General Court together with Mr. Goodwin and Mr. Spencer for Newtown May 14, 1634. At a general meeting of the whole town of Newtown held Feb. 4, 1634 he, with Haynes, Bradstreet and 4 others, were chosen Selectmen of Newtown to do the whole business of the town.

He was the 5th greatest proprietor of houses and lands in the town out of 80 enumerated in the registry of 1634. He owned 4 houses in the "west end" and maintained and kept in repair 36 rods of public fence; he owned quite a number of acres. The Rev. Mr. Hooker joined his people in Newtown and they, becoming dissatisfied with their location after repeated efforts and much difficulty, obtained permission from General Court to remove to the Connecticut River.

John Talcott thereupon sold all his possessions in Newtown to Nicholas Danforth May 1, 1636 and with about 100 others left Newtown in June 1636 (having first sent the carpenter Nicholas Clark over the previous year to build him a house, which stood on the ground where the North Church now stands, and was the first house built in Hartford), led by Rev. Mr. Hooker, and went on foot through the wilderness to the Conn. river where they founded the present site of Hartford. Here he took an active part in the affairs of the town, was a member of the General Court for many years and was styled "The Worshipful Mr. John Talcott."

He was one of the Committee appointed May 1, 1637 to take into consideration the propriety of a war with the Pequot Indians, and upon whose recommendation a war was accordingly declared.

He was one of the Chief Magistrates of the Colony until his death, which occurred at his Mansion at the head of Main Street in Hartford in March 1660. He was buried in Hartford, and his name is inscribed upon the monument erected by the citizens of that place to perpetuate the memory of the founders of the Colony of Conn.

Dorothy Mott, widow of The Worshipful Mr. John Talcott died in Hartford Feb. 1670. She was the dau. of John and Alice (Harrington) Mott of Winston County Suffolk.

John Talcott's will was dated Aug. 12, 1650. One clause reads: "Being sensabill of my owne mortality of the approaching of my chang not knowing how sudenly the Lord may put an end to my few dayes in this livfe, according to my duty, I doe make this my last will and testament, etc". A codocil Jan 17, 1659/60 and proved Mch. 3, 1659/60 bequeathed homestead to son Samuel, and provided that in case Samuel died without children, the estate should pass to the oldest son of his son John Talcott.

Children of John Talcott and Dorothy Mott:

1 Mary Talcott, b. in Braintree; d. about 1655; m. in America June 28, 1649 Rev. John Russell of Wethersmfield and Hadley.

2 Lieut. Col. John Talcott, b. Eng.; m. Oct. 29, 1650 Helena Wakeman; m. 2nd Nov. 9, 1676 Mary Cook.

MOODY

"Moody Family" by Charles C. P. Moody 1847.

Copied Nov. 8, 1930 at Albany Library by Belle Eldredge LaMont.

Mr. Wm. Moody, the principal progenitor of our name in New Eng. came from Wales. He removed to Ipswich, Eng. in his mature years and in 1633 joined the migration which followed Gov. John Winthrop, who had come 3 years before. He wintered in Ipswich, Mass. 1634, and in the following year was one of the company of first settlers of Newbury. He took oath of freeman May 6, 1635 and received a grant of 92 acres of land. His wife's name was Sarah, children were three: Samuel, Joshua and Caleb. By occupation he was a saddler and blacksmith, and is said to have been the first in New Eng. to shoe oxen so as to keep them from slipping on the ice. He died in Newbury Oct. 25, 1673. His first wife Sarah died Jan. 13, 1672/3. Joshua was born 1632; Caleb, 1637. Wm. Moody as well as his 3 sons were of considerable note, both in the ecclesiastical and the civil affairs of the town.

Joshua Moody[2] (Wm.[1]), 2nd son of Wm. and Sarah, was born 1632/3 in England about a year before his father came to this country; was one of the original settlers of Newbury; graduated from Harvard College 1653 and very early began to preach, first in Portsmouth, N. H. 1658, and in July 1671 was ordained minister of the first church there; next First Church of Boston as assistant to Rev. James Allen and remained there until 1692 when he returned to Portsmouth church, where he remained until his death. In Sept. 1688 his sermons had reached the number of 4070; he wrote several hundred more. He married Martha Collins, dau. of Edward Collins of Cambridge and sister of the Rev. John Collins of London, Eng. She died before 1674 and he married Ann Jacobs, widow of Samuel Jacobs.

Joshua Moody died on Sabbath July 4, 1697 and was "interred in the tomb of the worshipful John Hill." There were several children. One of his daughters, Martha, married Rev. Jonathan Russell of Barnstable; another daughter, Sarah, married John Pike; another daughter, Hannah, Rev. Samuel who was a preacher at New Castle (Great Island).

Taken from the will of Rev. Joshua Moody: 'If I die in Portsmouth, my body shall be laid in the burying-place there, under the great stone by the side of the oak, where I buried my first wife and the deceased children I had by her; hereby strictly inhibiting those profuse expenses in mourning, or otherwise, so frequently wasted at funerals."

To his children he gives the following charge: "I do also lay the solemn injunction of a tender and dying father upon all my children, that they love one another dearly, and that there be no difference between them about anything I shall leave them. And in order to the preventing any differences, I advise them to meet as soon as they may after my decease and discourse and share matters between them, while the remembrance of a dead father is fresh and warm upon their souls."

Martha Moody married Jonathan Russell 1690 — see Russell

Abigail Russell married Nathaniel Otis — see Otis

BREWSTER

William Brewster, son of Wm. and Prudence Brewster, was born at Scrooby, England, and educated at Cambridge College; born during the last half of 1566 or first part of 1567; the date is determined by an affidavit made at Leydon June 25, 1609 in which he, his wife Mary, and son Jonathan declare their ages to be respectively 42, 40, and 16 years.

His father was "Post" at Scrooby and thot grandfather same. Scrooby was a little hamlet situated nearly at the junction of the counties of York, Nottingham and Lincoln. It contained a decaying manor house belonging to the archbishops of York, and being on the great highway, was a mail and post station.

Brewster in time succeeded his father as manager of this station, and, as agent of the Archbishop, residing in the manor house; and there the members of the Pilgrim church were accustomed to meet on the Lord's Day, where he "with great love entertained them when they came, making provision for them to his great charge".

The Pilgrims attempting to remove to Holland in 1607 were imprisoned at Boston, Eng. through the treachery of the master of the ship that was to transport them.

Elder Brewster was said by Bradford to have suffered the greatest loss, one of 7 kept in prison. By August 1608 the whole congregation numbering about 100 was safely housed at Amsterdam; later in 1609 they removed to Leyden and in 1620 a part of the congregation about 1/3 in number and led by the scholarly Elder Brewster crossed the Atlantic in the "Mayflower" and founded at Plymouth the first of the New England Colonies.

Elder Brewster was accompanied on the "Mayflower" by his wife Mary and two younger sons. His daughter Patience, who married Gov. Prence, came with her sister Fear in the "Anne" in July 1623.

Mary Brewster, his wife, d. Apr. 17, 1627.

Children:

1 Jonathan Brewster, b. Scrooby Aug. 12, 1593; d. Aug. 7, 1659 Conn; came to Plymouth 1621 and m. Apr. 10, 1624 Lucretia Oldham; she d. Mch. 4, 1678/9.

2 Patience Brewster, b. Eng.; m. Thomas Prence Aug. 5, 1624 (ninth marriage in colony); d. 1634.

5 A child, d. at Leydon March 15, 1634.

6 Wrestling Brewster came in Mayflower 1620; d. a young man unmarried; one authority says he married Emia Story 1630.

BREWSTER

Wm. Brewster, more than any other man, was entitled to be called Founder of Pilgrim Church. It originated in his house at Scrooby and he sacrificed everything for it. He was Elder of church at Leyden and Plymouth. Bradford says: "He was qualified above many; he was wise and discrete and well spoken, having a grave and deliberate utterance; of a very cheerful spirit, very sociable and pleasant among his friends; of a humble and modest mind, of a peaceable disposition, undervalewing himself and his own abilities and sometimes overvalewing others, inoffensive and innocent in his life and conversation, which gained him ye love of those without as well as those within."

Always interested in Pilgrim History, he shaped the counsels of his colleagues, helped to mould their policy, safeguard their liberties, and kept in check tendencies toward religious bigotry and oppression. He tolerated differences, but put down wranglings and dissention and promoted to the best of his power the strength and purity of public life.

Cause of decision to emigrate to America, apprehension lest morals of their young people as English folk be broken by continued residence in Holland.

Occasion — Persecution of Brewster (printer).

That he drafted the Mayflower "Compact" of Nov. 21, 1620, seems almost certain; that he was the moral, religious and spiritual leader of the colony during its first years of peril and struggle, and the chief advisor and spiritual guide until the time of his death seems quite certain. He was in every respect the co-equal and colleague of Pastor John Robinson in all the measures for preparing the voyage to America and shares with Carver and Cushman the honor of procuring the requisite London Assistance. He did not shrink from the hardest manual labor and Bradford said: "Yet when the church had no other minister, he taught twice every Sabbath and yet both powerfully and profitably to ye great contentment of ye hearers and their comfortable edification".

Elder Brewster was in no way unwilling to take his part and bear his burden with the rest. "He partook with them of labor, hunger and watching, his Bible and arms being equally familiar to him; and he was always ready for any duty or suffering to which he was called." He was able to use his armor as well as his Bible. "After 1/2 of the colonists died in the first sickness, Capt. Standish had under him 20 men; in the first rank are Gov. Bradford and Elder Brewster; the good elder fights as he prays and tho he would far rather convert an enemy than hurt him, he would not dream of allowing him the first fire."

"If Elder Brewster prayed for protection against his enemies, he took good care that his gun was ready and his sword sharp; so that he could do his part toward securing the blessing asked."

Elder Brewster was "Chief of the Pilgrims", "Moses of the English Exodus". He was their ruling elder, which seems to have been the bar to his being their Governor — civil and ecclesiastical office in the same person, being then deemed incompatible.

He was the most learned man among the early colonists; at his death he left a library of 400 volumes, 62 of which were in Latin. He preached 30 years, but there is no indication that he ever received a dollar for his services. He was the author of the Compact, "the germ of all our American Constitution."

Some subsequent historians, not realizing that "the power of the church was then superior to the civil power", have failed to give to the heroic Elder the supremacy he deserves over each and all, as the heart, brain, and soul of the new Plymouth enterprize, without whom it could hardly have been attempted; with whom it became the most memorable and successful pioneer colonization on the American continent after the discovery of Columbus.

Admirable qualities of leadership; of gentle birth, educated at Cambridge, a courtier before he was 20 years of age; in high esteem with her Majesty's Sec. of State, treated by him more like a son. After years of persecution in building up the Mayflower church at Scrooby, left his native land, his position, and his fortune to be an exile in Holland and a pilgrim in America.

While living in his log house in Plymouth built by his own hands, he yearly received supplies of newly published books in Latin and English. Better for ministers to pray oftener and divide their prayers than be long and tedious in the same. He taught twice every Sabbath, both powerfully and profitably to the great contentment of his hearers; did more in a year than have people who are getting their hundreds do in all their lives.

Statesman — If the acorn is judged by the oak it produces, he had no superior in that age of great statesmen. The first Plymouth town meeting of equal citizens with equal rights had in it the seeds of Yorktown and Gettysburg.

The Plymouth Church Records say of him that with the most submissive patience he bore the novel and trying hardships to which his old age was subjected; lived abstemiously and after having been in his youth the companion of ministers of state, the representative of his sovereign familiar with the magnificence of court, and the possessor of a fortune, sufficient not only for the comfort, but for the exegen of life, this humble man labored steadily with his own hands in the field for daily subsistence; yet he possessed that happy electricity of mind which could accommodate himself with cheerfulness to all circumstances, destitute of meat, of fish and bread, even with his single meal of clams would he return thanks to the Lord that he could suck of the abundance of the seas and treasures hid in the sand. He enjoyed a healthy old age and was sick but one day when he died Apr. 16, 1644. He married Mary —— before 1592; she came to this country with him and died Apr. 17, 1627.

Jonathan Brewster[2] (Elder Wm. Brewster[1]) came to America on the ship Fortune 1621; his wife, Lucretia Oldham, born Derby, Eng. probably was a sister of John Oldham, who came to Plymouth about 1623 and was called brother by Jonathan Brewster. Lucretia Oldham was called "a noble specimen of an enlightened heroic Christian gentlewoman". Jonathan is said to have been a ribbon maker in Holland. In 1630 he moved to Duxbury from which place he was deputy to the General Court of Plymouth Colony from 1639 to 1644 excepting 1640. He moved to New London about 1649, in that part which later became Norwich. Here he was Deputy to the Gen. Court of the Conn. Colony 1650, 1655-1658. It is thot that Jonathan Brewster was married before coming to America and that he buried his wife May 10, 1619.

Children of Jonathan and Lucretia (Oldham) Brewster:

1 William Brewster, b. at Plymouth.
2 Mary Brewster, b. Apr. 16, 1627; m. Nov. 10, 1645 John Turner, Elder of Scituate. See Turner.
3 Jonathan Brewster, b. July 7, 1629 at Plymouth.
4 Ruth Brewster, b. Oct. 3, 1631.

COMSTOCK

"Comstock Genealogy" by Cyrus Comstock 1907

In Devonshire, England, there is a little village called Culmstock with a few hundred inhabitants. It is called 'Colmstocke" in the Domesday book, in the time of William the Conquerer. There are many records of Comstocks in Eng. just prior to the settlement of New England. In 1895 an examinatiaon of the books showed that the name had nearly died out.

The first record of a Comstock in America is in the will of Henry Russell of Weymouth, Mass. He gives to his wife Jane "the remainder of his time to be served of my servant John Comstock". Probably a boy under age as was the custom of those days—June 29, 1639.

The Wetherfield record gives 2nd month and 28th day 1641.

The lands of Wm. Comstock which he purchased of Ric Mills lying on the Conn. River. Wm. Comstock was probably among the emigrants from the old to the newer settlements. The Comstock Gen, gives much interesting data to show how they figured out the relationship of the early Comstocks. Miss Caulkins' "History of New London" says that Wm. Comstock lived to a good old age on Post Hill near corner of William and Vauxhall Sts., New London, Ct. In July 1651 he voted to cooperate with John Winthrop in building a corn mill . . . . 'with others he wrought on the mill dam"; the mill and dam are still standing.

ELDERKIN

"Genealogy of the Elderkin Family" 1888

By Dyer White Elderkin

John Elderkin, the ancestor of all who bear the name in this country, was born in England about 1612; was a master carpenter, millwright, and shipbuilder, whose services were in great demand throughout New England in the early days. He contracted to build mills, bridges and meeting-houses and resided in various places as his work required. In 1638 he was in Lynn and was a proprietor there. He later removed to Dedham where he was a proprietor in 1641; in 1643 he sold "ye new built Watermill in Linn". In 1648 he was at Providence, R. I., and Gov. Winthrop solicited his services for the new town of Pequot (now New London), Conn., requesting Mr. Roger Williams to use his influence in persuading Mr. Elderkin to come there. This Williams did with success, Elderkin arriving early in 1651 at New London, where he built the first and second meeting houses; and we find that for a period of 35 years he had charge of the most important structural work in New London and Norwich and the settlements in their vicinity. The land records of the various towns afford ample evidence of his industry and that he frequently was paid for it in land. In 1661 he built a vessel in New London for Wm. Brenton of Newport, R. I. and Daniel Lane of New London which cost 200 lbs. exclusive of the iron work. She was called the New London Tryall, and was the first merchant vessel owned in New London. As John Elderkin is classed among the proprietors of Norwich, Conn. receiving his proportion of lands as an original proprietor, his descendants are eligible to the "Society of the Founders of Norwich, Connecticut". He died at Norwich, June 13, 1787, aged 75. His first wife was Abigail ———; the date and place of her death is unknown. He married 2nd Elizabeth Drake Gaylord, March 1, 1660. She was dau. of John Drake and widow of Wm. Gaylord.

PALMER SHORT

"Groups of Palmer Families" by Noyes Palmer, verified and re-arranged by Miss Emily Wilder Leavit.
"History of Stonington" by Wheeler

Walter Palmer (1), the progenitor of the family, who first settled in Stonington, Ct., came to New Eng. in 1628 with his brother Abraham Palmer, a merchant of London, and nine associates. They went from Salem, Mass. thru a pathless wilderness to a place called by the Indians Mishawan here they found a man by name of Thomas Walford, a smith. Here they remained until the next year when they were joined by nearly 100 people, who came with Thomas Graves from Salem and laid the foundation of the town, which they named Charlestown in honor of King Charles the First, June 24, 1629. It is claimed that Walter Palmer built the first dwelling house in Charlestown, after it was organized as a township, on the two acres of land given him. He met Wm. Cheseborough, who lived at Boston and Braintree and they decided to remove to the Plymouth Colony and joined in organization of town of Rehoboth.

Walter Palmer was a prominent man when he lived in Mass. and was admitted a freeman May 18, 1831 and held many offices. His friend Cheseborough, not relishing the way and manner in which he was treated by General Court of Plymouth Colony, decided to look farther westward for a permanent place of abode. He visited New London by advice of John Winthrop; not satisfied, he started home and on his way came thru the town of Stonington, Conn. where he was so pleased with it, decided to make it his future abode. Mr. Cheseborough described it beautifully and he and his family started a house on west bank of Wequetequrck Creek. Mr. Cheseborough was therefore the pioneer English Planter of the town of Stonington.

The Conn. General Court were not satisfied with his locating himself in wilderness so far from any English settlement, so they ordered him to report his proceeding to Major John Mason, which resulted in a compromise later between him and said Court, wherein and by which he was to remain in his new habitation on condition that he would induce a reasonable number of people to unite with him in organizing a township. He invited Walter Palmer, then living in Rehoboth, to come and he bought land there too.

Born in London, Eng. 1586; came to Stonington 1653; d. Nov. 10, 1661?; married first in Eng.; one book says name of 1st wife not known.

Mr. Fred Carlisle, Sec. of Historical Society of Detroit, Mich. says "1st wife was Ann (called Elizabeth to distinguish her from her mother) D. A. C.

'Walter Palmer (1586-1661) of Stonington, Ct. was the first Rep. to the General Court of Plymouth; m. 2nd Rebecca Short." No. 1760 in D. A. C. Magazine.

The Walter Palmer Farm at the Wequetiwuock Cove. This farm contains 232 acres and is part of the original tract which Walter Palmer gave to his son, Nehemiah. On this farm is the ancient burying ground; on it is also the spot where Walter Palmer built his first log house; the excavation can still be seen in the side of the hill. The northern edge of the farm borders on the old mill pond; at the head of the pond can be seen traces of the old saw mill built by Walter and others. The grist mill built 200 years ago is still in operation. Many years ago it was purchased by a Mr. Baldwin for $10,000 and since has been known as the Baldwin farm; later purchased by Ira H. Palmer.

CROSS HERRICK WOODBURY LASKIN

Herrick Genealogy by Jedediah Herrick 1846, revised by Lucius Herrick 1885.

Henry Herrick was the emigrant ancestor; he probably landed first in Virginia; he is supposed to be the 5th son of Sir Wm. Herrick who had large land interests in Virginia (authority given in Gen.).

Porter Gen. Page 457: "Henry Herrick from Eng. to Salem, Mass.; m. 1635 Edith Lasken (dau. of Hugh Lasken of Salem from Eng.)."

This family was among the earliest in Mass. and is now widely disseminated throughout the U. S. The name appears to be of Scandinavian origin and has undergone many modifications in its progress from Eric to Herrick.

Henry Herrick, the patriarch of this family in America, was the 5th son of Sir Wm. Herrick of Bon Manor Park in Lester, Eng. in 1604. He came first to Virginia and shortly removed thence to Salem, Mass. and was accompanied by man named Cleveland (ancestor of all of that name in this country). Mr. Herrick member of First Church in Salem 1629 and his wife Elizabeth (?) about the same time.

Chas. W. Upton's "Salem Witchcraft" says "Henry Herrick was a husbandman in easy circumstances, but undistinguished by wealth and was a dissenter from the established church and a friend of Higginson who had been a dissenting minister in Lester. He married Editha (dau. of Hugh Laskin of Salem). She was born 1614 and lived to be at least 60 yrs. old. He died 1671. They were among the first 30 who founded First Chuhch in Salem.

The Baldwin family is traced in England thus: Richard[1], Henry[2], Sylvester[3], Sylvester[4]. His will was admitted to probate in Boston when the ship Martin arrived; he left a large estate; his widow and 6 children settled with rest of the emigration company in New Haven. Page 20-21 Peck Genealogy.

Robert Peck (20th generation) was also the son of Robert. He was of Beccles, Suffolk Co., born 1546; died 1593 ae 47. He was a gentleman or gentry entitled to coat-armor, etc. and at that time, before the tilte of Baronet was given, next to the nobility or the title honored.

From all informaion I obtained in relation to the name there, it is evident that this branch was one of much distinction. Among all the coats of arms, charts and records which I obtained in relation to other branches, there were none apparently so ancient or upon which the Heralds had bestowed so much labor as upon those of this branch of our patronymic. It was not customary in the early days of heraldry to give collateral branches; only the lineage from father to son. Robert Peck married Hellen Babbs, dau. of Nicholas Babba of Guilford.

Children of Robert and Hellen Peck:

1 Richard Peck, who died without issue.
2 Nicholas Peck, who married Rachel, dau. of William Young.
3 Robert Peck, Rector at Hingham; m. Anne —; (2) Mrs. Martha Bacon.
4 Joseph Peck, whose dau. Elizabeth m. Major Samuel Mason.
5 Margaret Peck.
6 Martha Peck.
7 Samuel Peck.

Robert Peck, son of Robert and Hellen, aged 20 in 1600, took his degrees at Magdalen College, Cambridge; A. B. in 1599 and A. M. in 1603; inducted over the parish of Hingham, Co. Norfolk, Jan. 8, 1605.

Descendants of Joseph Peck, by Ira B. Peck 1868.

Parish Records of Hingham, England.

Rev. Robert Peck (brother of Joseph Peck, emigrant ancestor of the Pecks in this country), was born at Beccles, Suffolk Co., Eng. in 1580; he was a descendant of John Peck, Gentleman of Belton, Yorkssire, Eng., where the family "was one of much distinction and prominence among the genry of influence." Graduated from Magdalen College, Cambridge, 1599; was instituted rector of St. Andrews Parish in Hingham, Norfolkshire, Jan. 8, 1605-1638, when he fled from the persecutions of the church to this country. He was a talented and influential clergyman, a zealous preacher, and a non-conformist to the superstitious ceremonies and corruptions of the church, for which he was persecuted and driven from the country. One of the offenses for which he and his followers were persecuted "for having catechised his family, and sung a psalm in his own house on a Lord's day evening, when some of his neighbors attended; his lordship (Bishop Harsnet) enjoined all who were present to do penance requiring them to say, "I confess my errors, etc."; those who refused were immediately excommunicated and required to pay heavy costs.

Rev. Robert Peck came to New England 1638. He settled in Hingham, Mass., and was made minister of the church there Nov. 28, 1638. His wife, son Joseph, and dau. Anne came with him. He remained about 3 yrs., until the trouble in England ceased. He returned Oct. 27, 1641 and resumed his Rectorship at Hingham, England. His wife and son Joseph returned with him, his dau. Anne remaining as the wife of Major John Mason, 'the conqueror of the Pequots."

His first wife Anne d. in Hingham, Eng.; was buried Aug. 30, 1648.

His 2nd wife was Martha Bacon, widow of James Bacon, Rector of Burgate. Rev. Robert Peck died at Hingham, Eng. and his funeral sermon was preached by Nathaniel Joslin and published. In his will he bequeathed 40 lbs. to the children of Anne Mason, his dau. and wife of Capt. John Mason.

Children of Robert Peck and wife Anne:

1 Robert Peck, bapt. July 23, 1607.

3 Joseph Peck, bapt. Apr. 22, 1610.

"It must be remembered that when James was born the country was in a primitive state, almost a wilderness. His father, Eleazer, with his axe had begun to let the sunshine in a few places and to stir the virgin soil and scatter a little seed, making an opening for future settlers. James Brown built his house on lands first set off to his father Eleazer on the most beautiful situation of any of the lands purchased by the three Brown brothers. The house built by James was located opposite what is now Union Cemetery. The compiler remembers the old house from 1840-1845 which soon after was torn down. It was a one-story house, fronting south, with east end fronting the road. The house and barn were built of native lumber, sawed at the mill erected by his father, and assisted by the older son, Jonathan, and James. The house contained but 4 rooms on the 1st floor; there might have been an attic. The compiler was in and out of this house during 5 yrs. of his boyhood. The house stood on a sloping plateau, affording a most picturesque view for miles around. The land was rich and fertile; the father of the compiler hired the land for a number of years. After the house was removed, the well covered, and grounds cleared and leveled off, there was not a thing to show the spot where these illustrious children were born. In this primitive house, standing on this beautiful location the following children were born:"

DENISON (DENNISON, DENYSON, DENNYSON)

MONCK BORODELL WILDE

History of Stonington, by Wheeler. Page 334.

The Denison family of New England was originally from Bishop's Stratford, Hertfordshire, Eng. From the old Parish Register there Stratford is spelled Stortford and Denison is spelled — Denyson, Dennyson, Denizon.

1 John Denyson living in Stortford in 1567; d. there of plague and was buried Dec. 4, 1582. He married Agnes . . . . , who after his death m. John Gace, for by his will proved in 1602, he mentions Geo., Edward and Wm., Denyson, children of my wife, also Elizabeth Grouch, a dau. of my wife.

5 Elizabeth Denyson, bapt. Aug. 23, 1579, Stortford.
6 George Denyson, bapt. Mch. 17, 1582, Stortford.

Wm. Denison (2), John (1) married Margaret (Chandler) Monck at Stortford, Eng., Nov. 7, 1603. He was well seated in Stortford or Stratford, but hearing of the then famous transplantation to New England, unsettled himself and recalling his son Daniel from Cambridge, removed himself and family in the year 1631 to New Eng. and brought over with him his son Daniel, then aged 19 yrs., and 2 younger brothers, Edward and George, leaving his oldest son John, who had also been bred at Cambridge and who was then a minister, married, with a good portion, and who lived about Pelham or in Hartford shire, not far from Stratford, where they were all born.

Wm. Denison brought with him into New Eng. a very good estate and settled himself at Roxbury, Mass., and lived there till Jan. 25, 1653 when he died, having buried his wife about 8 yrs. before, viz: 1645. He was Deacon of the Roxbury church.

Children of William and Margaret Denison:

1 John Denison, bapt. at Stratford Apr. 7, 1605.
2 Wm. Denison, bapt. at Stratford Oct. 5, 1606.
3 George Denison, bapt. at Stratford Oct. 15, 1609; buried 1615.

Children:

1 Sarah, b. Mch. 20, 1641; m. Thomas Stanton.
2 Hannah, b. May 20, 1643; m. Nathaniel Chesebrough; m. Joseph Saxton.

DENISON BORODELL

This Capt. George Denison having buried his wife in 1643, went back to Eng. the same year, where as we learn from a letter of his brother Maj.-Gen. Daniel Denison, pub. in the April No. of the New Eng. Hist. and Gen. Register of 1892, in which he says, "My brother George was a soldier there above a yr., was at the battle of York, or Morston Moor, where he did good service, and was afterwards taken prisoner, but got free and married a 2nd wife, Miss Ann Borodell, and with her returned to New Eng. in the yr. 1645, and took up his abode again in Roxbury, Mass., where he continued to live until 1651, when he came with his family to Conn., and located himself at New London, Conn., where he resided until 1654, when he came to Stonington with his family to live, and remained there until his death, which took place at Hartford, Ct., Oct. 24, 1694." Ann was the dau. of John Borodell and Agnes Wilde.

We learn from the records of Mass. and Conn. that Capt. George Denison was not only distinguished as a civilian, but became the most distinguished soldier of Conn. in her early settlement, except Maj. John Mason. His military services are on record in our Colonial archives where his eminence is recognized and portrayed. Also, you will find his name in the History of New London and Stonington, where his services are acknowledged and described in full.

There is no date of the marriage of Capt. Geo. Denison and Ann Borodell, but they were doubtless married in England. Pending their courtship an agreement was made between them, which was afterwards ratified and confirmed at Hartford, Ct., May 3, 1662 at follows: "This witnesseth that I, Geo. Denison, of Southertown, in Conn. Jurisdiction in New England,, for and in consideration of a jointure due unto my new wife, Ann Borodell Denison, upon marriage and upon my former engagement, in consideration of the sum of 300 lbs. by me received of Mr. John Borodell, which he freely gave to my wife, his sister, Ann Borodell Denison, and I have had the use and improvement of and for, and in consideration of conjugal and dearer affection moving me, thereunto."

This jointure agreement may be seen on the First Book of Conn. State Records in Hartford, Conn., page 274. This instrument is proof positive of the marriage of Capt. George Denison and wife Ann Borodell, to say nothing of the births of their children and his will in his own handwriting bequeathing to them his entire property.

Geo. Denison was Capt. of New London forces in King Philip's War, with Capt. John Mason, Jr., under Maj. Robert Treat; in the great swamp fight Dec. 19, 1675. He was asst. and deputy from Stonington to the General Court for fifteen sessions. The Town of New London granted Capt. Geo. Denison 200 acres of land in the Pequot-se-pos valley at Mystic in 1652, upon which he subsequently built a house, where he and his family made their permanent home. He died Oct. 24, 1694, and his widow died Sept. 26, 1712, aged 97, by the gravestones, which may be found in the Elm Grove Cemetery at Mystic, Conn. It is thought that Ann was moved from Stonington.

George Denison and his wife, Ann Borodell Denison, were both remarkably handsome and striking in appearance and at Stonington she was commonly known as "Lady Ann".

He gained great distinction in Indian Wars. Miss Caulkins says, "Our early history present no character of bolder and more active spirit than Capt. George Denison; in emergencies he was always in demand and he was almost constantly placed in important public positions."

On Oct. 18, 1934 the Daughters of the 17th Century placed a bronze marker on the grave of George Denison. This is in the old church yard in the heart of the city of Hartford, Conn.

BORODELL

Boston Transcripe.

This will was given me by E. H. S. C., Transcript Correspondent, a descendant of Lady Anne. Will of John Borodell, bro. of Ann Borodell Denison. John Borodell of London, gentleman, Sept. 2, 1667, proved Nov. 18, 1667.

"I give said lease to my 2 sons, John and Benjamin, to be equally paid betwixt them at their respective ages of one and 20 yrs. My executrix to manage the same in the meantime according to her discretion." If these two die, he gives same to two sons of Broughton and Frances. If they die, then to daughters Anne and Rebecca and unborn child. Out of 1/3 of estate he gives to loving sisters Ann Denison, Alice Hincks and Margaret Mitchell 3 lbs. apiece as token of my love; to my wife's father, to my sister Broughton and sister Thatcher and Joseph Whetstone 20 shillings to buy them some rings.

This is of interest to descendants of Mrs. Anne Denison and Mrs. Mitchell: "From Capt. Geo. Denison's will, Nov. 20, 1693, we have proof of Lady Anne's Irish ancestry", "whereas there is considerable rent due me for a house of my wife in Cork, in Ireland, which was given unto her by her father, John Borradale, at his death and no doubt may appear upon record in Cork, the which house stands upon lands which they call Bishop's land and was built by our said father". Boston Transcript G. R. T. B.

The writer has seen a lovely copy of an original ivory miniature of Lady Ann, said to be in possession of a descendant living in Stonington. Copies may be purchased from artist.

HOWLAND TILLEY

Mayflower passengers: John Howland, Elizabeth Tilley, John Tilley and wife

John Howland came to America on the Mayflower. Arthur, Henry, and John are supposed to be brothers. Arthur and Henry were Quakers; John was a Puritan. Governor Bradford speaks of John Howland as Governor Carver's servant; he belonged to Governor Carver's family.

The first mention of John in the old Plymouth Colony records is in a list of freeman; and the third in number in the Governor's "cowncell" of 7 numbers. TURNER GARNER

Geanology of Humphrey Turner, by Jacob Turner Esq. 1652

Humphrey Turner, according to traditions, came from Essex to New Eng. and with his family arrived at Plymouth about 1630. In the absence of records to verify the tradition, doubts are entertained of Essex being his former place of residence. Rev. Samuel Deane, the able author of the "History of Scituate", says on page 360: "Humphry Turner, tanner, arrived wtih his family in Plymouth 1638. He had a house-lot assigned him, 1629, and erected a house and resided there until 1633, probably; the latter being the date of the laying out of his house-lot on Kent Street in Scituate; the farm, however, on which he resided was east of Colinams' Hills."

And again, speaking of the settlements on and about those hills, he says, p. 8-9: "Here Humphry Turner had a house and farm – tho as yet a Plymouth man before 1633", but "The earliest notice of a settlement at Scituate which has record to verify it, bears date 1628."

That Humphry Turner was among the earliest and most efficient in the settlement of Scituate is abundantly evident. He was decidedly a practical man, — a tanner by trade, and possessed of that "judgment, discretion, energy and perseverance of Character, which eminently fitted him to be the one of the pioneers in beginning and carrying forward a new settlement. The old colony records bear ample testimony to the truth of the remark of Deane, page 360, that "He was a useful and enterprising man in the new settlement, and often employed in public business."

Humphry Turner (1) born Eng. 1593; m. in Eng. Lydia Garner, who died before 1673.

Humphry Turner died 1673, Scituate, Mass.

Following a not infrequent custom of his forbears he had two sons of the same name, John Turner whom he distinguishes in his will as "John" and "Young John" so named, tradition says, at the instance of godfathers.

Children of Humphry and Lydia (Garner) Turner:

1 John Turner, m. Mary Brewster, Nov. 12, 1645, Scituate.
2 John (Young John) Turner, m. Anna James, Apr. 25, 1649, Scituate.

7 Mary Turner, m. Wm. Parker, Nov. 13, 1651.
8 Lydia Turner, m. James Doughty, Apr. 15, 1649.

John Turner[2] (Humphry[1]) was born in Eng.; was alive in Scituate 1683; married Nov. 12, 1645, Mary Brewster(Jonathan 2, Elder Brewster 1).

Wm. Sabin first appeared in Rehoboth, Mass., at the origin of the town 1643. When he came to America is not known. Tradition says he came from Wales or the south of England, a Hugenot refugee from France. He was a man of culture and wealth, as is shown from his gifts for relieving suffering after the Indian ravages. The name of his first wife is not known; she died shortly after 1660. His two oldest children were born before coming to Rehoboth, Mass. His second wife was Martha, dau. of James and Mary

Allen (sister of Nehemiah and Joseph Allen).

His will was made 1685, probated July 17, 1687; original now on file in Boston mentions 16 of his 20 children.

LAMONT FAMILY

Historical and Biographical Sketch of the

LAMOND, LAMONT and LaMONT

The original home of the Lamonts, Lamonds, and LaMonts was in Argyllshire, Scotland. The Scottish annala contain frequent allusions to the clan of Lamonts or Lamonds, the name being spelled in both ways. The name Lamont and its derivations are derived from the Norse "Lagamadr", a lawman. This was a title given by the Norwegians to an official they placed in the various islands and districts under their rule.

Origin of Clan Dalriadic — founder came over to Scotland from Ireland probably as early as A. D. 500. One authority said they went from France to Ireland as political refugees.

Though the derivation is Norse, there is a belief that the founders came from Ireland. The first of the clan of whom there is absolute evidence is Fercher, who flourished about 1200. Fercher's grandson, Lauman, son of Malcolm, was the first to use the name, which has since become hereditary, accordingly, he is counted as the first chief of the clan.

About 1238 Duncan, son of Fercher and Lauman, son of Malcolm, granted certain lands at Kilman, Kilfinan, etc., to the Monks of Paisley. About 1646 the Lamont country was ravaged by the Campbells, who carried about 200 prisoners to Dunoon and massacred them at the Gallowhill. A memorial to commemorate the event was erected by the Clan Lamont Society in 1906.

The Lamonts of Knockdow claim descent from Geoffrey, son of John Lamont, alive in 1421.

Sir Laumun was summoned in 1293 to do homage to John Balliol. King of the Scots, and he died the following year. His descendant, John Lamont was the Lord of Inverchaolian, son of Godfrey Lamont. This Godfrey died before 1433 and from him descended John McGorre Lamont, who received in 1500 from John Lamont of Inveryne, a charter of lands of Knockdow including other lands. His eldest son John McGorre Lamont renounced under revision the lands of Kilmarnock and Brockley to Sir John Lamont of Inveryne, and was appt. by Queen Mary on Apr. 8, 1557, attorney for

Sir John. Three years later, he rec'd. a new charter of his lands from Sir John and was made Baile of Toward by the Earl of Argyle in 1565.

James the Sixth in Feb. 1573 granted a commission to the heirs of Duncan Lamont of Inveryne to prosecute an action against John Lamont of Knockdow for the invasion of his lands.

John McGorre Lamont was living in 1580. His son John McGorre Lamont died in 1603, leaving a son, Gilbert Lamont, who died about 1635. His eldest son, Duncan Lamont of Knockdow died 1646.

One historian says, "It is an old and accredited tradition in the Highlands that the Lamonts (Lamonds) were the most ancient proprietors of Cowall, and that the Stewarts, Maclachlans and Campbells obtained possession of their property in that district by marriage with daughters of the Clan."

In the further accounts of the Clan and of the achievements of its leaders, the names most frequently appearing are John and Archibald. These names must have been very numerous throughout the Clan; and it is interesting to note that the three Lamont brothers who brought the family name to America in about the year 1750 were named John, Archibald and Robert.

The name, Robert, also appears frequently. One account says that "in 1463, Robert Lamont of Inveryne died, and his lands fell to the crown by reason on Monentry and for ninety years were held by the Crown by his successors." Another Robert Lamont, the records show was "on Oct. 24, 1688, gazetted Ensign in Colonel Douglas's Regiment of Foot. He got his company next year, and in 1693 was present at the disastrious day of Landen, when the allies under King William the Third, were defeated by the French under the Duke of Luxemburg."

THE CLAN LAMONT

The Lamonts of Knockdow claim descent from Geoffrey (or Gorre), son of John Lamont, alive in 1431.

The families of Auchagoyll (now Otter) and Auchinshellich (or Willowfield) both descended from Walter, son of Sir John Lamont of Inveryne; Cowstan from Patrick Lamont, Crowner of Cowal in 1450.

Silvercrags was of Robert, third lawful son of Sir John.

Stilaig was held by Archibald, second son of Sir John, and his successors till about 1643, when Sir James (XIV) granted it to his brother Archibald.

The present chief Ronald Coll Lamont of Lamont (24th Chief) lives in Australia. There is a Clan Lamont Society founded in 1895, its headquarters in Glasgow. John Lamont's widow and three sons are first of the name Lamont in America. Three brothers, John, Archibald and Robert brought name to America about 1750; length of stay in Ireland unknown but long enough to be known as Scotch-Irish; came from Colerains County, Antrim about 1745/50. About same time widow and three sons settled in North Hillsdale, Columbia County, New York. Archibald, eldest son, first to come to America — went on vessel and it sailed away — sold to someone on Long Island as apprentice. This brought mother and other sons over. No record of John or his descendents. If family ever came from France, it was $2\frac{1}{2}$ or 3 centuries ago. Widow probably buried in North Hillsdale cemetery by sons. No record.

Archibald was on shore and one of the men on ship lured him on to see the ship, then it sailed away; Archibald was frightened. They said, "It will be a long time before you will see home again," and to make money they sold him to someone on Long Island as an apprentice. The mother and two other sons came over to find him.

After the Revolution, the Van Rensselaers tried to collect back rent on their lands. They tried to tax Archibald, whose land was outside their territory. He refused to pay and they had him arrested. His nephew William Lamont raided the jail and freed him. They apparently realized the injustice as he was not molested again. See Thomas Lamont's "My Boyhood in a Parsonage", pp. 64, 65.

Archibald Lamont was sixty years of age when he married Abiah Smith; she was eighteen. Archibald had several children, lived and died in Hillsdale, N. Y. His descendants removed to the western part of New York State, some settling in neighborhood of Albion and Rochester, N. Y., then an almost unbroken forest. One grandson of Archibald was a Yale graduate, lawyer, member of the N. Y. Senate and Judge of the Supreme Court, George Darwin Lamont. One son went to Michigan where a township was named for him; a daughter married ——— Wiltsie, whose son Benjamin was an old man and leader in the church at Catskill where Thomas Lamont preached.

A stone bearing the inscription "In memory of Archibald Lamont who departed this life Oct. 24, 1826 in the 22nd year of his age", is beside the one "In memory of Mr. Archibald Lamont who departed this life April 24th, 1795, aged 71 yrs.

Jonathan Frisbie Chubb (b. Nov. 29, 1802 at Poultney, Vt.; d. Apr. 6, 1854 at Grand Rapids, Mich.)

"Jonathan Frisbie Chubb was a leader in Grand Rapids where he settled about 1832, when it was an Indian trading post; bartered with the natives; — an enterprising "go ahead" man — prosperous and a puritan. The story goes that he was so opposed to cards he used tongs to put them in the fire. Had first piano and largest library in county and sent at that distant time and place, his son to Yale and Rensselaer; his daughters to Vassar.

The village of Lamont near Grand Rapids was named for his son Archbald Lamont Chubb in appreciation of some agricultural implement he gave them."

SAMUEL LAMONT

Biographical Sketch Taken From Minnesota Historical Atlas of 1874.

Samuel Lamont was born in Orleans Co., N. Y., March 2, 1815. His parents were poor; they moved into that county in its early days. His advantages for education were limited. He worked on the farm with his father until he was of age, going to school in the winter. When he became of age, he worked on a farm by the month, and obtained means to attend school. In the winter of 1836-37 he entered the academy at Brockport, N. Y., and remained for nine months. He then returned home again, and rented his father's farm, and worked it for seven years. In 1840 he was married. In 1842 his wife died. In 1844 he married his second wife. In 1845 he left his father's farm and moved his family to the town of Barre, N. Y., and bought a farm. The fall of the same year he sold out, not realizing much in the trade. In the spring of 1846 he emigrated to Wisconsin, and bought a farm in a new and unsettled country among the Indians, and not a white man within six miles of him. The Indians were quiet, of a good disposition and friendly, often coming to him to sell their fish and venison. He was, at that time, in very moderate circumstances, but comfortable. He commenced breaking up his farm, built him a log cabin, and, with a strong arm and strict economy and industry, had cleared up 80 acres of land. In 1855 he built a good frame house. He was elected Justice of the Peace the same year. Cultivating his farm for eleven years, suffering all the inconveniences of the pioneer, he succeeded in his efforts. In the spring of 1857 he rented his farm, and moved to the village of Princeton, where he opened a Justice's office, which he kept for two years; he then engaged in stock dealing, in which he was very successful. In the spring of 1860 he sold his farm in Wisconsin for $2,000, and moved to Minnesota. The next spring he bought a farm in the township of Hyde Park, and now has a very fine house and good barns, situated on a beautiful elevation on the rolling prairie of Hyde Park Township; and now owns 160 acres of land under good cultivation, and has a good breed of horses and cattle.

Mr. LaMont is a man of great energy and ability, and is one of our first-class farmers. Commencing with mere nothing, he has, by his own hard earnings and strict attention to business, won the esteem and confidence of all who know him. His farm is now worth $5,000, and his stock $3,000. He has held the office of Justice of the Peace every year since he has lived in Hyde Park except two. When he commenced on his present farm, he had lost all his property by signing with men, and the home and all that he has was obtained by his own good management. He is now living in comfortable circumstances, enjoying the happiness of his family of six children.

TYLER

First Baptist Church of Hillsdale organized May 28, 1787, incorporated 1838; first trustees Palmer, John Tyler, Knox; John Tyler as deacon.

North Hillsdale cemetery was originally one acre of ground, set apart by the patroon Van Renssalaer for a burying ground for his tenant; it was enlarged by three successive purchases until it now contains 4 acres pleasantly situated on a sloping, rolling hillside with a southern exposure, well fenced and shaded.

Among the oldest stones bearing inscriptions we find the following, viz: Robert, Archibald and Phoebe LaMont, buried respectively 1789, 1795, 1799.

Early inhabitants of Hillsdale were Archibald and Robert LaMont and John Tyler.

Our legend tells that President Tyler and Josias LaMont used to play chess together; said to be cousins. When beaten, Tyler called Josias a dammed old Irishman.

KING (Roi)

The first mention of our line of Kings is James King (Roi), who came from France and served with the LaFayette Contingent; and he also had brothers in it. W. F. King of Ellis, Kansas, a great grandson of James, gave me this information: "There were 5,000 men in the LaFayette Contingent and history tells us they were the flower of French Chivalry. After the Revolution he (James) settled in Renssalaer Co., N. Y., near Sand Lake and changed the spelling of his name from James Roi to James King."

Here is a story W. F. King tells about James King:

"He used to live with my grandfather, William King, and my father, Samuel King, when a boy was the driver of the cattle; he took James riding on the cart with him. The roads were rough and as he (James) had stopped British lead with his body and was still carrying it, it would make the old man swear, but as he was a polite guy, he would swear in French; and the harder the cart would jounce the harder he would roll the r's in Sacrament." "I don't think this was very wicked; I often myself say holy smoke."

From Maranda Allen Anderson, a great granddaughter of James, came this information also: "James King came from France and served with LaFayette" and this: "James King married Esther Sprague."

Transit Cemetery. "Esther, wife of James King, died March 5, 1844 (in the 87th yr. of her age)".

MR. STEPHEN RANDALL

"Mr. Randall is one of the very few who, possessed of a liberal education has always "stuck to the farm". Coming onto possession of the home farm by purchase he has in connection with the adjoining one given special attention to fruit growing and by advanced method, improved machinery and high grade stock kept well abreast with the times."

BUTTS

PATRIOT OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

WILLIAM BUTTS

Thomas Butts came to this country from Norfolk, Eng., May 18, 1660. He lived at Portsmouth and Little Complin, R. I., which were then in Mass. and part of Plymouth Colony.

From Bible owned by Julia Lester of Sand Lake, N. Y., the following records were copied:

"Born, married and died at Fall River, Gideon Butts (b. about 1708) married Mary Leighton of Fall River; they had 6 children: Gideon, David, William, Elsie, Sallie, Gemima. Their son Gideon Butts born in Providence, R. I., married Elizabeth Durfee of Providence. (Pension Record gives Gideon Butts b. Dartmouth, Mass., Sept. 24, 1729; Ellizabeth b. Swansey, Mass., Oct. 23, 1735). Then their son William Butts born in Providence married Rachel Lockwood at Rhinebeck, N. Y., May 1779.

William Butts born June 20, 1755 (Pension Rec. b. Tiverton, R. I.).

Rachel Butts born Nov. 25, 1764 (Pension Rec. b. Stanwich, Conn.).

They had 11 children, 7 sons and 4 daughters; first four children born at Rhinebeck, N. Y.; rest at Sand Lake, Rensselaer Co., N. Y. Wm. Butts moved to Albion in 1835; died at home of son, Lockwood Butts, Apr. 20, 1841; Rachel, his wife, died in Gaines at home of her dau. Miranda Butts King, July 25, 1843. Wm. was 86, Rachel 80. Both are buried in Mt. Albion Cemetery.

Wm. Butts has the distinction of being born in three places, viz.: Providence, Tiverton, and Horseneck; at least all in R. I.

"Wm. Butts enlisted from R. I. as a drummer in Revolutionary army. He served in Mass. Regiment and also New York Regiment. He married Rachel Lockwood at Rhinebeck, N. Y. The story is "that Abraham Lockwood, father of Rachel, built a brick oven when he heard that Washington's army would pass that way and that Rachel and her sister Mollie baked beans and bread in quantities with which to feed the hungry soldiers. This was the occasion of Rachel meeting her fate — William Butts — our ancestor."

"Another story about Rachel Lockwood Butts: It seems that her eldest son Gideon brought her a new dress purchased in Albany on the day that LaFayette passed thru Albany in 1825. It was black calico and cost 60 cents a yard; there were yellow flowers on it; not satisfied with the color of the flowers, she stretched the goods upon quilting frames and painted the flowers purple, using indigo." Cousin Julia Lester had an oil painting of Grandmother Rachel clad in this wonderful work of art as well as a mob-lace cap and neckerchief, all fashioned by her own hand. Thus arrayed and with her fine black eyes and clear-cut features, she is an ancestor to be proud of. Another incident is of interest in Grandmother Rachel's life. Her eldest son Gideon purchased for himself goods for a pair of trousers as well as shopping for his mother. He reached home at 4 p. m. and his mother cut out the trousers and made them by hand (of course) so that he could return to Albany the next morning at 6 o'clock to meet some directors who were about to lay out a plank road from Albany to Sand Lake. He traveled all the way on a cow-path."

Wm. Butts was allowed pension on his application executed Aug. 7, 1832, while residing at Sand Lake, Rensselaer County, N. Y. War pension claim W:16876 Pension paper says he married at Amenia, Dutchess Co., N. Y. His wife Rachel was allowed pension on her application executed Sept. 22, 1841, while residing in Gaines, Orleans Co., N. Y.

WHITNEY

The surname Whitney was originally a place name. The parish from which the family takes its name is located in County Hereford, England, upon the extreme western border, adjoining Wales, and is traversed by the lovely Wye river. The English ancestry of John Whitney, the immigrant who settled in Watertown, Mass., has been established by Henry Melville and presented in an exquisitely printed and illustrated volume. Very few American families have their English genealogy in such well authenticated and satisfactory form. An abstract of the English ancestry is given.

(I) Turstin, "the Flaming", otherwise known as Turstin de Wigmore, probably also as Turstin, son of Rolf, and Turstin "the White", was a follower of William the Conqueror. He was mentioned in Domesday book as an extensive land holder in Herefordshire and the Marshes of Wales. He married Agnes, dau. of Alured de Meleberge, a Norman baron of Ewias Castle in the Marches of Wales.

(II) Eustace, son of Turstin, was a benefactor of the monastery of St. Peter in Gloucester. He or one of his immediate descendants took the surname of De Whitney from Whitney of the Wye, in the Marches of Wales, where his principal castle was located. The estate comprised over 2,000 acres and remained in the family until 1893, when it was sold, there being no member of the family to hold it. The castle has entirely disappeared, but it is believed to be in ruins under the Wye, which has in the course of years changed its path. The castle was probably built on an artificial mound, surrounded by a moat fed by the river, which gradually undermined the castle, which was at last disintegrated.

(III) Sir Robert Whitney, a direct descendant of Eustace, was living in 1242 and was mentioned in the "Testa de Nevill". Three or four intervening generations cannot be stated with certainty.

(IV) Sir Eustace de Whitney, son of Sir Robert, gave deed to the monastery of St. Peter in 1280, referring to and confirming the deed of his ancestors above mentioned. He was Lord of Pencombe, Little Cowarn and Whitney in 1281; was granted free warren by Edward I in 1284; summoned to wars beyond the seas in 1287; tenant of part of the manor of Huntington in 1299; in Scotch war of 1301. He was possibly grandson instead of son of Sir Robert.

(V) Sir Eustace de Whitney, son of Sir Eustace, was knighted by Edward I in 1306, and was a member of parliament for Herefordshire in 1313 and 1352.

(VI) Sir Robert de Whitney, son of Sir Eustace, was one of 200 gentlemen who went to Milan in the retinue of the Duke of Clarence on the occasion of the latter's marriage in 1368. He was a member of parliament for Herefordshire in 1377-79-80 and sheriff 1377.

(VII) Sir Robert Whitney, son of Sir Robert, was sent abroad to negotiate treaty with the County of Flanders in 1388; member of parliament for Herefordshire in 1391. He was sent to France to deliver the castle and town of Cherbourg to the King of Navarre in 1393; was knight marshal in the court of Richard II; sent on King's business to Ireland in 1394. He was killed, together with his brother and most of his relatives, at the battle of Pilleth 1402.

(VIII) Sir Robert Whitney, son of Sir Robert, was granted the castle of Clifford and Glasbury by Henry IV in 1404, on account of service of his father. He was sheriff of Herefordshire in 1413-28-33-37; member of parliament 1416-22. He fought in the French war under Henry V, and was captain of the castle and town of Vire in 1420. He was named as one of the five knights in Herefordshire in 1438, and died on March 12, 1441.

(IX) Sir Eustace de Whitney, son of Sir Robert, was born in 1411. He was head of a commission sent to Wales by Henry VI in 1455, and was a member of parliament for Herefordshire in 1468. He married Jenett Russell; (second) Jane Clifford.

(X) Robert Whitney, son of Sir Eustace (9), was probably a knight, and was an active participant in the War of the Roses, and was attainted as a Yorkist in 1459. He was probably at the battle of Mortimer's Cross in 1461. He was the subject of a poem by Lewis Glyn Coth I, on the occasion of his marriage to Alice, great-granddaughter of Sir David Gam. He married (1st) Alice, dau. of Thomas Vaughan; (2nd) Constance Touchette, who was the mother of his sons. She was descended from William the Conqueror through the second wife of Edward I, King of England.

(XI) James Whitney, son of Robert, was appointed receiver of Newport, part of the estate of the Duke of Buckingham, confiscated by Henry VII in 1522. He married Blanche, dau. and an heir of Simon Milbourne.

(XII) Robert Whitney, son of James, was of Icomb, and in charge of other confiscated estates. He was sheriff of Gloucestershire, 1527-28-29-30. He was nominated Knight of the Bath by Henry VIII at the coronation of Anne Boleyn in 1531; was granted part of income of monastert of Brewern in 1535; furnished forty men to put down rebellion in 1536; was named to attend upon the king's person. He died in 1541 and his will was proved June 11, 1541. He married Margaret Wye.

(XIII) Sir Robert Whitney, son of Robert, was knighted the day after Queen Mary's coronation in October 1553. He was summoned before the privy council in 1555-59. He was member of parliament for Herefordshire in 1559, and died Aug. 5, 1567. He married Sybil Baskerville, a descendant of William the Conqueror through the first wife of Edward I, King of England.

(XIV) Robert Whitney, son of Sir Robert, was mentioned in the will of his father, and also in an inquisition taken after the latters death. He married Elizabeth, dau. of Morgan Guillims, Duglim.

(XV) Thomas Whitney, son of Robert, was of Westminster, Gentleman. He was buried at St. Margaret's, April 14, 1637. He married Mary, dau. of John Bray, of Westminster; she was buried at St. Margaret's, Sept. 25, 1629.

ADDENDA

To Mr. Jesse Eldredge of German
State of New York.

from Jason Barrows and Polly Barrows
Mansfield, Conn., Feb. the 7th, 1823.

Dear Brother:

I take this opportunity to write a few lines to you and it is with pleasure that I embrace it. I received your letter Feb. 2d and was glad to hear from you in particular that you and your family are well. I and my family enjoy good health Polly had bin very well for her since she lived with me. Your friends are all well in Willington. Mother Eldredge hurt her side last fall and has bin som lame but is able to do her own work. Josiah Biknell has been very much out of health has got the consumption without doubt. He was able to take care of himself and has gone to Enfield for seport. You wrote me that it has been very sickly in german this winter and your family had been sick which I was sorry to hear but am glad they are well now. It is a time of health in Willington and Mansfield now, but it was sikly in Willington last winter, and some died. Cynus Topliff and his son Samuel died with the fever and his wife is in a low state of helth his whole family was sick with the fever Mr. Stirrs that married Sally has bin poor and is now driving a stage in Albany. Sally lives at home with her mother. Uncle Zoeth and Uncle Joseph have been more lame this winter than common. Uncle Joseph tis not likely will live a great while longer unles he gets better he is unable to do any work. The smallpox has broke out in several towns round about us and some have died with it. It is of the confluant kind and seemed to be very alarming but those who have had the cinepox ginerally say the smallpox does not prevent it.

You wrote to me that you expected me to move to German last spring and that it would be for my interest and comfort to, and I expect it would. I laid out to have moved last spring in June. I will now give you the reasons tho it is to me very disagreeable. You are not insensible to the many difficulties which attended in my forming a connection with your sister. Brother Elijah after he found she would not give him her property begun to quaril with Polly and me and used us so bad , dare not inform you the onehalf the threatening with oaths that I dare not repeat. He turned me out of the house forbiding me to enter on peril again. Then he begun to set up his authority over Polly and would not permit her to go to meeting nor to a neighbors house without he went with her and kept quarling and scolding her. As she could take no comfort out of her life requested me to carry her down to Mansfield where I went. Enock can inform you haw she was used but not to detain you, our property was in such a situation we could not get it together, it was a long time before tha would give up Polly's notes and we could sell her land nor mine for cash I now have an opportunity to sell mine and Polly has got her property all together where it is more saleable than it was before. Expect that Mr. Hanks will probably buy our place in the cors of one year. He is waiting for money from his father which probably will come soon. If we can sell we will move to your part of the world.

Another reason we did not move last spring was on account of Polly leaving her mother in such a situation. You can't but be sensible that Elijah is not going to take care of her. He has teased her until he has gotten the last cent of her portion. She gave up to him last summer a note for $46 which was the last cent she could command and Elijah does not half support her off her land. How she can pay her taxes and buy her provisions. He gives 12 or 14 dollars for gitting her wood I know nor she finds Elijahs horse and wagon to use and then has to pay him for carrying her grain to the mill. I fear if she should live another few years her children or the town will have her to maintain unless something is soon dun to save her property. I would have kept her this winter for nothing and she would live much easier than she now is but she is forbid coming to my house on peril of having her goods burned up. She never has been to see Polly since she moved now dars not come I am calculating to come to German with my wife next Sept. if I live and am well and if I can sell to move. I thank you for writing to me and hope you will write as often as you can I hope you will pardon me if I have wrote anything to hurt your feelings but I wanted you to know why we didn't move to German last summer.

Give our respects to sister Nabby and your children Enoch and his family so I must draw to a close wishing the blessing of God may ever attend you I remain your friend and brother Jason Barrows and Polly Barrows.

From Jabish Breed and Chloe Breed
Bedford Cayuhoga County, Ohio

Respected father and mother I now take this opportunity of writing a few lines to let you know that we are all well and hope these few lines will find you all enjoying the same blissing. Chloe's health has got to be very good. She has got pretty much over her homesickness she was confined the 9th of July and lost her babe wich was stillborn, since that her health has been improved and I think bids fare to be better than it has been in some time. We received a letter from brother John H. Lawton and sister Polly yesterday and was very glad to hear from them that they were all well and also that he has made so good a shift of his property. I do not think that I shall buy this season til spring at least if not longer I started with my sheep last Wednesday for Michigan but the roads was so bad with dust that I sold them in Cleveland. They cost me expenses and all $539 and seventy five cents and I killed one and have kept 20 and I sold the remainder for $675 and I am going to start on Monday to by another drove if I can get a drove of fat sheep up to Michigan they will fetch a good price, from three to five dollars apiece, an they will cost from one to two dollars I can drive them as soon as there comes a rain to lay the dust, if I can get them They are scarce there is great grass in this country but corn is generally very poor more so than ever was known before I have planted the beans and corn you gave me and I never saw such beans before they are the best I ever saw and the corn is as big as can grow it will make ones eyes water to look at it we had a mess of it just this morning but there is folks has had it a fortnight ago about here.

We have got considerable acquainted now and with some people formerly of York State Mr. Stoddard has been to see us several times and Doct Henderson has been to see us and Oliver Weaver and his brother Stephen has been up as soon as he heard that we were here, he lives 50 miles from here and Mr.

Harrison and his Lady is come today from Cleveland and he and I are going out with our guns to have a little sport as soon as I get through writing Sister Lucy Brown has arrived in Cleavland and she tells me it has been very wet and cold in that country I should like to see all of you and if I have good luck I think I shall come there one year from this fall but I never want to come back to Pharsalia to live if I can make more in this country without a farm than I can there with one I left. I think Jesse could do well to take a farm in this country for he can if he would be stedy and attend snug to business. But I shall not advise anyone to move here until they have come to see for themselves. But I think it is a far better country than that, as I have stated the prices of things in my first letter I shall omit it in this I and Oliver Weaver are going to the west this fall to see the country and if I find the place as fair as I have been told I think some of settling there in the spring to set up a provision store and boochers shop wich is the first rate business in this country. But I have not room and time at present.

Give my love to all, this from your with respect,

Jabish Breed

Tell Eli we saw a fine flock of turkeys today and two deer which I think I will kill as soon as they get fat.

Dear Parents.

I rejoice to hear from you that you are in good health. We have all been sick but we are well now except myself I feel thankful that my health is as good as it is for I have been verry sick. The day we received Polly's letter I walked into the street for the first time in 12 weeks. I am considerably content over my prospects of getting a living is quite good at present. Goods is dearer here than to the east and we have pork we brought with us we sold 30 weight of butter and several pounds of lard that we had brought here. We have a good cow, I make more butter than we use in our family, we have two pigs which we will roast when you are here and I will cook you all kinds of sauce. Jabish killed a sheep yesterday it had 15 pounds of tried tallow and as fat meat as you ever saw, cattle fat much quicker here than to the east we have nothing interesting to write Jabish delayed writing to get intelligence from the west, but as he did not go, we thought it best to write, fruit is not as plenty as usual and clover is in the blow Tell Polly I shall look fro her from the 10th of Spt till she comes but I think she will not return as this village is full of young men that hire their board. Her board and passage from Manlius to Buffalo will be four dollars and from Buffalo to Cleveland two and a half dollars. Edin Stauling has been to Esther and stayed a week I am glad Eunice is better remember me to all our brothers and sisters and their children tell Hannah, Lucy is well pleased with her new home, our children are well contented we shall expect you to write the particulares of everything.

yours respectfully Chloe Breed

To Mr. Jabish Breed
Bedford Cuyahoga Co.

From John H. Lawton and Polly
Pitcher July 29th 1836

I now take this opportunity of writing you a few lines to let you know that we have survived the cold and terrible winter and are enjoying tolerable good health at present and hope that these few lines will find you and yours enjoying the same blessing. My health has been verry poor this summer until within a few weeks but since that time I have been swell and enjoyed as good health as ever I did. The doctor said I had the liver complaint I tried every thing I could think of but all seemed to do me no good until I got some Hygean pills before I had taken one dollars worth I felt like a new creature.

Eunice also has been sick she was confined the 30th of May and lost her babe but we have had one given to us as fine a boy as ever you saw, he was three months old the 28th and weighs 17 pounds. Eunice didn't get along very smart, she had the ague in her breast and had it lanced wich kept her down some time, but she is geting along now. All the rest of the family are well we have had some changing about since you lefte here I sold my farm to Burton Wakley and his father for $700 and have bought out Deacon Warner I now have got one hundred and one acres of land for which I gave 12 dollars an acre, it is excellent grass farm I can keep 16 cows on it, well I have 9 cows and we are making butter it will fetch 14c a pound now and probably more in the fall we have had a verry wet backward season so far there is not much prospect of having much corn but we have a great crop of oats and grass I have got as much hay off four acres as I did from ten last year I commenced haying the 11th of this month and have got more hay in the barn than I had last year but I shall not get through this good while yet, wages are so high that I cannot hire, we cannot get a days work without giving a dollar and some are giving nine-shillings, the merchants have all left their shops and gone out to haying. We are all well pleased with our situation, it is much easier to get about upon we do not have that hill to climb every day.

We received your letter about the middle of June and it rejoiced us greatly to hear from you as we had long been expecting a letter from you we had been to the post office time after time but could get no intelligence from you so we concluded that you had gone further west than you expected when you left us we were verry glad to hear of your welfare and that you had so pleasant a journey and were so comfortably situated but as you did not write the name of the county we did not know where to write there are so many places of one name in that state but Polly has just received one with the name of the county on it so I immediately embraced the opportunity of writing these few lines I have no particular news to write you at present it is a time of general good health among us our friends are all well as far as I know I have not heard from them in three weeks I forgot to tell you that Mr. Giles Chitenden is married to Miss Samantha McWhorter they were married in June. Mr. John Rose has broke down and has run away, the last they heard from him he was in Detroit. Mr. Dodge has just got home, his property was all sold at vendue soon after you left I have not been up the creek since he got home so I do not know anything particular about him I have heard that he brought home considerable money he has been to Illinois there has been quite a number gone from Pitcher, John Carter and Deacon Warner has been and have got back John Baldwin and Curtis Burlingame are sick. Deacon Warner has purchased a farm there but I do not think he will go there but I must draw to a close my pen is so poor I cannot write.

Do write as soon as you can give my love to all the children Eunice and the children send their love to you and yours tell Cordelia that I want to see her very much but I must conclude my letter by subscribing myself your

Affectionate brother

John H. Lawton

N. B. If Chloe will come out here we will do everything in our power to make her comfortable Polly will write more particulars about it.

Dear sister it is with pleasure that I now address you although so far distant from you my health is good and wish that this would find you and yours enjoying the same blessing but alas I fear that it will not be so by the letter I received from you I was very sorry to hear that your health was poor and homesick withall I think that your comfort and happiness here in this world is but little but Oh Chloe we have but a little while to live here in this world and may we so live that if we are not permitted to meet each other in this world we may be permitted to meet in that latter and brighter world where parting will be no more. I have not much news to write I have not been from Johns to stay all night since I stayed at your house but I think I shall try to visit you in September if nothing happens to me as soon as the 10th or 12th. If I do not come I want you should come here I think you will be provided for and if I come you must return with me without fail. Eunice says you must come and tell Jabish to come and buy a place and stay here in Pitcher, wish you could come.

Milo and Dameris, Hall Case and Sally Ann Spence has been here to visit and stayed over night they said they should like to see you and Cordelia. Mr. Case is agoing back into his tavern this fall and Hall is agoing back again and going in company with Mr. Robert aselling clokes Julius is in tennesee he says he feels fine and see girls aplenty. Leman Talect is in Virginy a peddling clokes and so it goes. And now I must stop for John is waiting for me to stop and so I must extend you goodbye till I can see you if I had wings I would fly to you, kiss Cordelia for Aunt Polly give my love to all the children, this from your sister Polly E.

This one was entitled

Nabey

1813

"Ye pampered great who proudly shine
In costly dress and quaff your wine,
And on rich delicacies dine—
I envy not your splendid lot
If Nabey should be mine.
Ye sons of honor and renown
Who wear a title or a crown,
A scarf, a garter, or a gown,
I envy not your tinseled lot
If Nabey should be mine.

Ye bachanalian throng
That chase the hours along
With bottle, glass and song
Tommyrot you thoughtless lot
If Nabey should be mine.

Ye base deceivers who decoy
The witless females to destroy
Their peace and for they joy
I envy not your fraudful lot
If Nabey should be mine."

"Riches engender care
Honors vanish in air
Pleasure a bestial snare,"

"If I could my wishes obtain
The first would be, Nabey to gain—
Then clasping her close to my breast,
We'd join in this humble request—
That God would his blessin bestow
And teach us the way we should go—
Unite us in body and mind
In ties that unceasingly bind—
And love him supremely for that is his right
And next in each other to take most delight."

"Propitious heaven! how
How didst thou bestow the boon
And fill my heart with rapturous joy!
To seal the bliss
With many a kiss—
O may our love ne'er cloy."

POEMS OF JESSE ELDREDGE III

On my Birthday 1832

"I now behold my natal day,—
A cheerful tribute I would pay
To Him, who has preserved my life
Amid the elemental strife
And made my age now sixty four;
Him for his mercies I adore—
For health and strength and mental powers,
For friends to cheer my social hours,
For food and clothing — quiet rest—
And all good things with which I'm blest;
But more than all for a good hope
That is a sure unfailing prop,
To hold me in each trying scene
That in this life may intervene."

Letter to Jesse Eldredge and wife written by Jesse's mother Mary.

Willington, Conn.
March 13, 1816

My dear children:

I would let you know that I received your letter with joy and gladness of any letter you can any of you send but I can't see to write but poorly, so that I don't know as you can hardly read what I do write. You wrote you wished for some help to pay for your land and I wish as much I could help you; at present I cannot, as your Uncle can inform you all about affairs much better than I can write. I had been unwell some time, am better now. I want to write a great deal, but can't see much and might conclude, hoping Elijah and Polly will write more particulars and your Uncle Pierce tell you. Remember my love to Ephraim and his wife; Remember my love to Jesse and to Elam and to Eunice and the rest of your children.

So I remain your loving mother

My dear Children

I would inform you that I received your letter dated 3rd of June. Was exceedingly glad to hear from you, but should rejoice more to see you, I would inform you that I have been quite unwell, but through the goodness of God I enjoy my health better than I have for some time past. I should be glad to send some things more than a letter but your Uncle will have so much to carry for himself, I cannot send any thing by him. If I could get some money to send, he could carry that, but I cannot get that at preesnt. It is so hard to get, seems almost impossible to get any. I suppose it is expected you will come to Willington in the fall about settling your mother Bicknell's estate and then if we should live, I hope we shall see and converse with each other. I hope you will see your Uncle and Aunt and David and they will tell you about things better than I can write and I hope Elijah and Polly will tell more particulars than I have for I cannot see but poorly. Remember my love to all your children. So I remain your loving Mother wishing health and prosperity.

1849 Poem

"Old eighteen hundred forty nine
Has been sometime on the decline
And soon must finish her career
That her successor may appear
Young eighteen hundred fifty then
Assumes his power o'er beasts and men
We'll first record his wondrous deeds
His predecessor he exceeds
The Pope abstracts himself from Rome
At Galta he finds a home
The French Republic him assists
And after many squirms and twists
The Romans have to quit the field
To such huge forces they must yield.
The Austrians and Russians too
Have quite as much as they can do
To shed Hungarian blood for naught
Except for freedom they had fought
Despotic tyrants bear the sway
And manial serfs, their will obey.
On Hayti's shores a despot reigns
His vassals now may hear their chains
His wooly head must wear a crown
To keep all opposition down.
Ev'n here in these United States
Of liberty the South's sons prates
What kind of liberty prevails
When blacks are manacled in jails?
Because they'd rather bear the sway
O'er wife and children, than obey
The lordly white man's stern command
To cultivate for him the land
Remuneration never made
For labor, with the hoe and spade
To seek for happiness is vain,
The cholera has thousands slain
And boilers bursting, hundreds more,
And vessels wrecked quite near the shore
Have strewn the beach, with bodies dead
While some were saved and kindly fed.
Old forty nine must now resign
To fifty power and space
May love divine benignly shine
And brighten every face
May health abound the world around
And temperance prevail
May knowledge great adorn the state
O'er mountains hill and dale
May love of God, be shed abroad
And enter every heart;
And love to men of course will then
True happiness impart.

Pitcher, September 29th 1851

Dear brother and sister,

By the kind preservation and protection of an all wise Providence we are in the enjoyment of our usual health. In the spring and summer the woman was more feeble. There was a revival of religion in this region, among the converts are Edson and his wife and Mary Almira. Reverend Pindar Field preaches here. Our friends so far as I know are well. Edson's boy and Frederick's youngest boy have been very sick,—but are better. The summer has been cold and wet — the first part of this month was very warm — the 14th cold and windy — great frost and quite a freeze 15th—16th and 17th which greatly injured the corn fodder. There was but little wheat and that poor. Many oats — early sown good — late nearly destroyed by rust. Adin sowed seventy bushels; Eleazur Craft 40 acres; Grass was never better; I think never so many apples. Potatoes sick, and some beans I believe not so greatly injured as last years; no pears. A few weeks ago Ahira Eldredge and Elijah C. Pearl's wife visited us; he informed us of the death of Mr James Richardson. Since Jesse came to see us. He called on John Parce, who is an invalid, suffering lameness and much pain — unable to labor, but favored with a good property. Also on Alpheus Crocker who is in a somewhat similar situation — — on William Holt and Joseph Vinton who are well. He also visited Doctors P. G. Shipman, Dr. Madison and J. Avery. All wealthy. Dr. A. B. is at Syracuse and J. Orville at Fayettville.

Enoch came to see us a few days ago, he and his wife have much improved in health. last week Mr Royal Storrs and his wife were here and yesterday Mr Horace Bicknell. So you perceive we have had some pleasant interviews. Eunice is calculating in a few days to go to see J. Henry Breed at Sheboyan, Wisconsin. Give our best to brother and sister Barrows, tell them if they can afford to visit us we shall be glad to wait upon them; at least we shall expect a letter from them. (whoever writes to me will please to direct to Lincklaen post office as that is but a few rods from my residence.) What I wrote respecting the Shipmans will be understood by Polly — — three of them reside in the city of Rochester. Tell Polly that Esq. Wakely's health has improved — I would inform her of the death of George Taylor's wife — Mrs. Blanchard — formerly the wife of Joshua Chapel, Mr David Wire and Mr Amos Baldwin.

I ought to have mentioned that Ephraim's youngest daughter Huldah M. was one of the converts. you will please to give our respects to Amos Preston Horace Holt Austin Pearl — Asa Taylor, Hiram Rider, John Turner — Daniel Glazier and a host of other personages, sufficiently numerous to fill a sheet. I wrote last spring to Mr. Preston, but he has not yet responded. Chloe's only child a daughter was married last spring in Pennsylvania;

I would inform you that I cut nearly all the wood for both fires at the door — I have hoed a good deal and reaped some. I am favored with a good taste and relish — but suffer much from deafness and corns on my feet. Last spring I visited Josiah W. Clark and Polly's children — they appear well and prosperous; they live at McGrawville. I am somewhat eccentric in my writing and think to close by a specimen of my poetry. I must not omit stating that my eye-sight continues good and that I take much in reading.

I will subscribe myself yours affectionately

Yours Jesse Eldredge

ORIGIN AND COMPLETION OF CRIME

First pilfer some delicious fruit—
To please the eye — the taste to suit—
And think you've done it pretty cute—
To rob your neighbor.

He surely did possess the soil—
His noble trees you sought to spoil—
Which cost him many hours of toil—
And much hard labor.

You will attack his melons then—
Say, probably some eight or ten—
And then will sneak from his nice pen
A guilty groper.

You'll then abstract a hive of bees—
At dead of night — when no one sees—
Save base marauders — such as these—
And possibly a toper.

To cap the climax, bring a glass
Pour out the whiskey — let it pass—
You'll soon be sprawling on the grass—
I guess some drowsy.

A pistol, bowie knife and rope
Afford unmitigated scope—
Beyond the furthest gleams of hope
Where nought can rouse you.

RETROSPECT

1899 - 1949 Golden Wedding

AUNT BELLE and UNCLE GEORGE

Now here's some facts and fancies 'bout my Uncle and my Aunt,
With just a touch of seriousness, portrayed with humorous slant.
Today I sing of George and Belle, the last name is LaMont;
No finer Aunt and Uncle could a fellow ever want.
A special celebration is in store for them right soon;
In fact they're just recovering from their second honeymoon.
They've been so busy all their lives, they've gathered little moss;
I wonder if they've figured out which one is really boss.
Their farm has always raised fine crops; its fame has spread afar;

From miles around the people came for peaches in their car.
You see they've been quite occupied with fruit, 'n kids, 'n stuff;
When Dor'thy, Darwin, Eldredge came, Aunt Belle said, "That's enough!"
She taught them all arithmetic, to add, but not subtract.
"You'll never get ahead," she said, "if you keep slipping back!"
When these three went to college, and were out from under-foot,
She took up raising posies, cause Aunt Belle just won't stay put.
At cross-word puzzles she's a whiz, she solves them in a hurry;
And if she's on your side at bridge, you haven't got to worry.
I hear she's haunting auction sales for pitchers big and small;
They fill up fourteen of her rooms, the attic and the hall.
She also visits graveyards. Course she only reads the stones!
I don't think she has started yet collecting any bones!!
She's only digging out the facts, who married whom, and when;
She knows her antecedents to A. D. six hundred ten.
She's D. A. R. and D. A. C. thanks to her careful search;
She shook the family tree so hard George nearly lost his perch!!
I take my hat off to her for she's really got that spark!
Before she's through, I'll bet she'll be a Daughter of the Ark!!
I've often heard the story how the horses ran away,
And almost carried Uncle George to Paradise that day;
And when the roller came along and pressed him down quite flat,
I'll bet he shook himself and said, "My Goll!! Now what was that?"
Remember that old Reo he rode in long ago?
He'd slip the clutch, start up in high, and then he'd holler, "Whoa!!"
He swapped it for a Hudson, how that car would steam and boil!!
Each fifty pails of water he'd put in a quart of oil.
My Uncle George would drive that truck all day and half the night;
I hear it now in memory, the whine of that old White!
He's always helpin' others, his tools he often lends;
His passport into heaven is: "His neighbors are his friends."
His Master Farmer title shows what farmers can attain
By proper application of hard work and active brain.
He's natural when he hurries; you'll never see him pose;
He won't take time to eat his meals or even blow his nose!!
His fav'rite dish is cornflakes, and he eats a box a day!
He craves their crunchy goodness like a sheep does clover hay!
At Church they both are faithful! To Rotary he's true!
Farm Bureau is his hobby! They both are Grangers too!
My Aunt Belle had no Mother's Club to help her kids with teethin';
She went to Ladies' Aid instead, and helped to save the heathen!!
Now fifty years is quite awhile to get along together;
To hope, and pray, and work, and play in every kind of weather.
A twinkle in my Uncle's eye, a grin on Aunt Belle's face,
Could be their secret of success in life's exacting race.
And may the years that lie ahead be rich with sunny laughter;
I know that they aren't worried much about the life hereafter.
For George will lead the Heavenly Choir in practice every week,
And tinker up the Pearly Gates, if he should hear 'em squeak!!
While Belle, Celestial Auctions quite religiously attends,
A-buying golden pitchers for her very special friends!!

LAMONT, sent by Mrs. Jared Van Wagenen, Jr., of Lawyersville, N. Y.

AN OLD LAMONT FAMILY SKETCH

Foreword by T. W. L. September 30, 1943

I have had reprinted in its original form for my children and my few remaining Lamont cousins a brief informal account of the Lamont family in America as prepared and read by my father, Thomas Lamont, at a reunion of the family of my grandfather, Thomas William Lamont (after whom I was named), in late November, 1876.

The family gathering was held in the large and pleasant home of our Uncle George in Bound Brook, N. J. Of the six brothers (my father had five brothers and seven sisters) George had always been the outstanding financial success. Two years younger than my own father, he followed him as a student in Union College, Schenectady, N. Y., and duly graduated in 1857, winning his Phi Beta Kappa key for academic distinction. He then went South, rode the mountains and valleys of Virginia selling maps to the local schools and colleges, and finally wound up as a teacher in a seminary for women at Winchester, Virginia. There he met another teacher, Rebecca Kern, a granddaughter of Major Seth Mason of "Wheatlands," White Post, Va., of the well-known Virginia Mason family, and on June 28, 1858, they were married.

Suddenly Civil War broke out, and our Uncle George was kept south of Mason and Dixon's Line throughout the conflict, meantime becoming president of a small women's college at Farmville, Virginia. There their first child, May, was born. With the war coming closer, this little institution moved on to Danville, and finally driven from there, went to Clarksville where it remained until Lee's surrender. "I believe," writes my Cousin Robert, Uncle George's second son, "that in Danville Father served the Confederacy as some sort of home guard or night patrol. Long after the Civil War he was at bottom an unreconstructed rebel, though he came in later years to be a great admirer of Lincoln."

Coming North after the war Uncle George went into business and at once attained success. He and my Aunt Rebecca were both delightful individuals, educated, cultured, well-read, and maintaining open house in the best tradition of Southern and Lamont Clan hospitality. My elder brother Hammond (deceased in May, 1909) is quoted as having remarked of our Aunt Rebecca: "There must be something, Rob, to be said for the civilization of the Old South, if it could produce a woman like your mother." Uncle George had a lively sense of humor, large twinkling blue eyes, and a smile like a benediction.

I dimly recall this reunion of 1876. I was just turned six years of age. My two chief recollections are first of the entire family assembled in the large drawing room or parlor of the Bound Brook house at the time my father read aloud the attached paper on the family. My other recollection is of a big bedroom with any number of mattresses on the floor, made up into beds, and the whole room turned into a dormitory for us boy cousins of whom there must have been about fourteen. Our grandmother Lamont at that time, having been born in 1811, was sixty-five years old,—a very vigorous, intelligent person, always dressed in black silk so heavy and stiff it could have stood erect by itself; keeping a watchful eye upon her many children and grandchildren, and full of friendly anecdote. I recall too how, at the end of the reunion, a good many of the family, including my father and elder brother Hammond, journeyed to Philadelphia to view the great Centennial Exposition (a World Fair we should call it now). To my intense disappointment I was considered too young to go, and I recall even now the bitterness with which I reflected upon the inevitably faulty judgment which parents exhibit!

It will be noted that in this account of the beginnings of the Lamont Clan my father adopted the tradition then extant in the family to the effect that it originally derived from France. This, as a matter of fact, was incorrect; and in his "Brief Account of the Life of Thomas William Lamont and His Family", published in 1913, my father corrected that error and pointed out that from the records that had become available to him since 1876 it was clear that the original home of all the Lamonts was in Argyllshire, Scotland. In fact, the Clan Lamont Society of Edinburgh published in 1938 a complete and voluminous History of the Lamont Clan from 1235-1935 (Seven Centuries of Clan History from Record Evidence) by Hector McKechnie, a well-known advocate of Scotland and historian of note, who had taken five or six years to compile this volume. It was dedicated to myself and to the late Harry A. Black, one of our distant kinsmen, because between us we had provided the funds for the compilation and publication.

Mr. McKechnie's Chapter I tells the story of our origin; "The Lamonts were always a namely people, descended from the Lamon mor of tradition, the Sir Laumon of history, the benefactor of Paisley Abbey." "They were", says Mr. McKechnie, "lords of all Cowal in the days when it was virgin forest", (Cowal being in general the region covering the lower part of Argyllshire with Loch Fyne on one side and the Kyles of Bute and Firth of Clyde on the other). But McKechnie adds rather sadly that "never after the Wars of Independence did they bulk so large as the McDonalds, the Campbells, or the Mackenzies, who all straddled several counties, and many branches, and were definite political forces."

Mr. McKechnie speaks of the "hereditary feud with the Campbells" which oppressed the Lamont Clan for so many generations, and in my father's larger volume of which I have spoken, he mentions the siege which the Campbells carried against the Lamonts. cooped up in their Castles Toward and Ascog in Argyllshire; of how the Campbells on a promise of safe conduct persuaded the Lamonts to surrender and then, when they and their wives and children marched out from two strongholds, how the Campbells fell upon them and after a brief interval cruelly hanged "36 Lamont Gentlemen" on one ash tree.

The way McKechnie describes it is this: "What happened is generally known. In short, the Lamonts were treacherously seized and bound; a similar capitulation was obtained at Ascog; both castles were reived and burnt; the estates were scoured and scorched; a number of women and children were murdered in cold blood; 36 prominent clansmen were hanged in Dunoon, and many others were dirked just after; the chief, and his brothers and some of the cadets were carried to Inverary, where they were robbed, imprisoned, and threatened, and young Ascog and Auchagoyl judicially murdered; and finally their whole lands and possessions were taken over by the Campbells, except as had already been attached by the creditors."

All this is known as part of the Dunoon Massacre. When I took my family to Scotland in the summer of 1937 and rented Sir Iain Colquhoun's estate, Rossdhu, on the west shore of Loch Lomond with a beautiful prospect of Ben Lomond across the water, I motored over to Dunoon to see the shaft erected there long generations ago as a memorial to those who were killed at the Massacre of Dunoon. And there, lettered on the tall shaft, were many Lamont names, including those of Archibald, John, and Robert, men who must have been the nearby progenitors of the very three brothers bearing these identical given names who emigrated to America about 1750 and started the Lamont family on its way in the new world.

Well, we need go back no further. Following the family reunion at Bound Brook in 1876, there was another less numerous one held in the family seat at Charlotteville, Schoharie Co., N. Y., in the summer of 1879. From that date on no formal attempt was ever made to get all the family together, altho for years up till the time of Grandmother Lamont's death many of her children and grandchildren visited her at Charlotteville every summer. The David Lamonts who lived in Albany, made a practice of spending a good part of the summer there and not infrequently my own father and my Uncle George went up together.

The last visit I ever paid to Charlotteville was about ten or fifteen years ago when, with my sister Luvy Gavit and her husband, I motored over from Rensselaerville and spent a day with them in the Charlotte Valley; a brief visit in the morning to Fergusonville where my mother had attended school under the tutelage of her uncles, the Reverends Samuel D. and Sanford I. Ferguson, and then eight miles up the valley to Charlotteville where we had a picnic lunch and spent the rest of the day visiting the Lamont graves, with the tall marble shaft marking the grave of my own grandfather, Thomas William Lamont. The village had changed very little. There was Uncle Simeon Lape's general store with the big house opposite in which he and our Aunt Lucy lived and died. The by-ways and the whole village were filled with ghosts. Lamonts had come, had seen, and had conquered, and then had all gone, leaving only memories behind them.

Re-union of the descendants of Thomas William Lamont of Charlotteville, N. Y., at the residence of his son George LaMonte, Bound Brook, N. J., November 22, 23. 1876.

At the time named there assembled at the home of George LaMonte, Mrs. E. M. Lamont, widow of Thomas W. Lamont; her six sons and five surviving daughters, together with their wives, husbands and children — nearly all the living members of the family — making a company of forty-two persons.

A chronicle of the Lamont family was read and a poem recited, both of which were submitted for publication.

Excerpts of a Historical Sketch given by Rev. Thomas Lamont, Catskill, N. Y. About the year 1725 there lived in Coleraine, Antrim Co., in the north of Ireland, a family consisting of a father, mother and some three children, all boys. The father and mother were probably under thirty years of age. They had their simple homely joys and we know they had their sorrows for the father, tradition says, died early and the oldest boy, Archibald, was carried to America against his will.

Some time about 1740-1745 the widowed mother and her three boys came to the wilds in the northern part of Columbia Co., in the town of Hillsdale, N. Y., and settled. Here was the first home of the family in America.

How long this woman, who endured so many hardships, and saw so much sorrow, lived after their settlement in Hillsdale, and when she died, and where she was buried, we do not know. No stone marks her grave. It is not unlikely that she was buried in the old grave-yard in North Hillsdale near where her two sons, Archibald and Robert are buried. Of her children; We have no record that John left any posterity that survived him, but Archibald, the eldest, who seems to have been a vigorous, enterprising man, secured for himself a good farm in North Hillsdale. He was quite famous for his physical strength in his day — had the name of being the strongest man in Columbia County. Buried North Hillsdale. See page 195.

Of Robert, our ancestor, I am sorry that we know so little. He was born in Coleraine, Ireland, 1726, came to this country with his mother, married one of his country-women, a Miss Brown. I know that was her name, because I remember hearing my grandfather say, that when he was a little boy, one of his great-uncles, a bother of his grandmother Lamont, by the name of Brown, visited his sister in Hillsdale, and remained some months and brought up a quantity of flax and sent it to Europe, probably to the north of Ireland, long noted for its skill in the manufacture of linen goods.

They had four children who grew up, John, William, Archibald and Mary. Robert is described by my grandfather, who remembered him well, as a short, thick-set active man, full of fun. Both he and his wife, in their speech, always betrayed their Irish origin. Buried in North Hillsdale. His wife, who survived him several years, spent her last days with her daughter, Mary, wife of Benjamin Goss, and settled in the town of Fulton, Schoharie Co., N. Y. She is buried in a private yard in Sapbush Hollow. No stone marks her grave. Of their sons, John seems to have been a boy full of life and mischief and fond of rough practical jokes. In his boyhood he took a live mud-turtle and put it in an out-door oven in which his mother had put her bread and pies to bake. When his mother came to look into the oven, it is said that she found things somewhat mixed, and in a not altogether satisfactory condition. At another time, calling his brother William to see a large trout in a pool, where they watered their cattle in winter, as William was stooping over the icy pool to see the trout, he pushed him in head first, giving him unasked the benefit of a very cold bath, which he never forgot. He served in Revolution; see page 212. Archibald married and had some descendants, but I know little of them. See page 212.

William, our great-grandfather, born about 1755; see page 212. At close of war, he married Mrs. Phebe Perkins, a young widow, maiden name Goss, sister of Benjamin Goss, his brother-in-law; she was born 1761. Soon after their marriage, they settled on a farm in North Hillsdale. near the foot of the Kakeout Mountain. William was an active, energetic man, of a strong will, and a good deal of courage. See page 195. His first wife was said to have been a superior woman. Her children, some six or eight in number, who were old enough to remember her, never tired of speaking her praise as a wife and mother of intelligence, energy and thrift, who looked well to the ways of her household. She died very suddenly June 12, 1799, thirty-eight years of age. She was working very hard over her washing, when suddenly stopping, she sat down complaining of faintness, and immediately died. Her husband was in the field hoeing corn. She left a house full of little children, the oldest, Matthew, not more than 17 and the youngest, David, but a babe. After his first wife's death William Lamont sold his farm at Hillsdale and moved to Fulton and bought a farm. He married again and lived on his farm in Fulton some 25-30 years. Then he went to western part of New York state and died at Pomfret; received pension from Government for his services in Revolution.

Our grandfather, William Lamont, Jr., was his second son; married at the age of 18 Jane Stillwell, one of the daughters of Thomas Stillwell,; she was 19. Very soon after their marriage they moved into the forests in Fulton, Schoharie County. The wife, our grandmother, is said to have nearly died of home-sickness. Only lived in Fulton 3-4 years, then moved to Charlotteville where he is buried; also his wife. Of their eleven children our father was the eldest, Thomas William Lamont. Among his early school teachers was his own grandfather, Thomas Stillwell, after whom (as after his own father) he was named; among his later teachers was his own Aunt Betsey Lamont. Married Elizabeth Maria Payne, only daughter of Jacob and Lucy (Austin) Payne. Our parents' union was blessed with the unusually large number of thirteen healthy children, all of whom grew to be adults and were married. Eleven are still living. Hannah died first; then Elizabeth. Here we end our sketch for the present, conscious of its many defects and that it does but scant justice to many incidents and persons connected with our family history worthy of more extended notice.

A TRADITION

By M. A. Ruland, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Long years ago, so the old folks say,
The family of Lamonts kept festal day;
There was great grandmother, the oldest of all,
And forty-four children and grandchildren small.
At the head of the table sat George her son,
A round robust man, full of frolic and fun,
The generous host of that occasion,
Was a host in himself in any station,
Good looking, interesting, a man of parts;
He won by his wits the way to men's hearts.
As an offset to this peculiar bundle of fun
Was Thomas, the serious, the next older son,
Whose calling and election he strove to make sure
By preaching the gospel to rich and to poor.
His manner was grave, his hair was gray,
He was wisely chosen the historian of the day.
Another son, Austin, younger in years,
So noted for making good use of his ears,
And keeping his tongue, yet much of a wag
Who would drop a sly word when conversation would lag,
That would rouse up the guests with roars of laughter,
And keep them aroused for long hours after.

There was Jacob the oldest, not like Jacob of old,
Of whom such a story of deception is told;
This one was frank, he knew no deceit,
Not a shred of dishonesty from his head to his feet;
He had garnered a fortune by his long years of toil,
And was proud to be reckoned a son of the soil.
The twin brothers, David and William, were there,
No two more alike could be found anywhere;
One alone by himself you would claim was the other,
And their wives to distinguish them had much of a bother:
And, no doubt, out of this fact, the story grew
That they both courted Mary — and married her too.
Now these were not all, these six noble men,
Who trace to the Huguenot their noble origin.
Five daughters as well — there late had been seven —
But the Angel of Death had snatched two to heaven;
And the chairs that were now vacant, most eloquently plead
That the living would kindly remember the dead.
The dead! Nay, the living who live evermore,
And beckon us onward to the bright shining shore;
And a voice from Elizabeth and Hannah seemed to say,
Be prepared for Death's coming, ye know not the day.
In silence sat Julia, whose heart had been riven
By great sorrow, and its tendrils were stretching to heaven,
Toward a bud that had drooped in her garden of love,
And had been transplanted to the garden above;
Though the pang was severe, yet her heart was serene,
When the love of a Father in this chastening was seen.
Close by her, Maria, the youngest of all,
The bitterest of bitterness, Mara they call.
Oh mother, why named you me Mara? Oh, why?
Must my life be bitterness till the day that I die?
There was Catherine, cheerful in the midst of great sorrow,
Hoping happiness would drive away woe on the morrow;
Not giving away to "It might have been,"
While the dawn of a brighter life, through the clouds could be seen.
There was Lucy, greathearted and generous and true,
Unselfish as Mary — and like Martha too,
Devoted to friendship, to family, to God,
Walking prayerfully the path that her father had trod.
If ever were joined the divine and the human,
'Twas in Jennie, the modest, housewifely woman;
No purer affection in wife or in mother,
Was ever matured in the heart of another.
Time would fail to mention the names of the others —
The husbands of the daughters, the wives of the brothers,
The children — some infants just standing alone,
And others to manhood and womanhood grown;
And surveying all with a loving pride —
The good Grandmother. Save two that died;
These were her only jewels. She had prayed
That in the better land there might be made

For all of hers, a grand reunion. She little thought,
That to her on earth would come, unsought,
So bright and holy a vision as this,
So blessed a foretaste of heavenly bliss.
The guests arose; each went his way,
Some saddened in heart, and others gay:
But this fearful thought stung each soul with pain,—
Not all of these friends will meet again.

SALUTATION

Recited by Arthur Ruland, aged 6 years

There was a young lady lived on a hill,
And, if nothing had happened, she'd be living there still.
A young man, named Tommie, would a wooing her go,
And coaxed the young lady from her mama, you know.
Of course, they got married, and of children they bore
Seven girls and six boys, no less and no more.
Now the girls are big women and the boys are big men,
And by all getting married the number doubled again;
So that husbands and wives make two bakers dozens,
And their children, we little folks number twenty-six cousins.
Uncle George, and Aunt Bec having bidden us here
With the warmest of smiles, and the greatest good cheer,
Rejoicing we've come to the welcome call.
Long live Auntie Bec. Uncle George, and all!
